Newly-Named Jurors Will Hold Special Session This Morning; Collier Selected Foreman.

CITIZENS' GROUP STILL UNNAMED

Solicitor John A. Boykin Receives Numerous Offers of Prominent Atlantans To Serve on Body.

City hall graft information, obtained by the retiring grand jury and which will be presented this morning to the new January term grand jury, will be received by the latter body with an open mind and with the pledge to go into the matter thoroughly and to the very bottom, Rawson Collier, foreman of the new jury, said Monday night.

Mr. Collier, as head of the inquisitorial body sworn in Monday, declared that "we know nothing more about the city hall affairs than that which has been printed in the newspapers, but the public can be assured that we will give a great deal of time and thought to whatever the retiring grand jury presents to us, and will give sincere and serious consideration to the matter."

While not committing himself or the grand jury as to any probable course of action other than that the evidence and information of the November grand jury will be gone into thoroughly, Mr. Collier said that he could promise the public that the new jury will do its duty in the light of whatever it discovers in considering the serious charges involving the city hall.

Moral Support Needed.

Functions of the citizens' committee which is being organized rapidly to aid the grand jury in its investigation of alleged city hall graft will include collection of evidence for consideration by the grand jury, but the most important part to be played by the committee will be the moral support it can give the grand jury, said Solicitor General John A. Boykin in a statement following adjournment of the first meeting of the new January term grand jury.

Mr. Boykin pointed out that without public support, the grand jury can get nowhere. The moral support of the general public is absolutely necessary to the success of the investigation, and the citizens' committee, composed of outstanding, representative Atlantans, will give that support, he said.

Mr. Boykin said that the committee is genuinely interested in the probe, the grand jury's investigation will have more chance of meeting with success.

Details Not Available.

While it was known that organization of the citizens' committee was proceeding rapidly, details of the formation of this committee were not available Monday, except for the fact that Solicitor General John A. Boykin has received numerous offers of prominent citizens to serve on the committee.

At the county commission meeting on Wednesday, it is expected, the recent grand jury's recommendation that the solicitor-general's staff be increased by an addition of two capable investigators will be considered.

Solicitor-General Boykin Monday said that organization of the citizens' committee is proceeding rapidly, but that he is not at liberty to name the Atlantans who have volunteered their services. "I have had several telephone calls, both at my home and in my office, and they have been from outstanding citizens who have approved the grand jury's action and have expressed their willingness to serve on the committee, but they have not

Finding of Witness In Taylor Murder Reopens Old Case

FARM CONFERENCE WILL OPEN TODAY

Georgia Association Confronted With Problem of $25,000,000 of Farms in Hands of Loan Firms.

Today's Program

Address of welcome, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

"The Land Problem of the South and Rural Farm Produce Factories as the Solution," Colonel Pat Calhoun, Calhoun Falls, S. C.

"Georgia Farm Properties of Loan Companies and How to Make Increased Returns From Them," L. J. Cullen, vice president, Parsons-Taft Company, Chicago.

"How the Problem Is Being Solved in Other States," E. H. Taylor, associate editor, Country Gentleman.

Subscription luncheon.

Dr. Hugh A. Brown, interior department, Washington.

Open forum.

Confronted with the problem of more than $25,000,000 of Georgia farms and farm homes in the hands of loan companies, many of them foreign, the Georgia development conference, sponsored by the Georgia Association, will meet this morning in the first of a three-day session to tackle the problem.

Discussions of the state's land problem will feature today's session with the picturesque Colonel Pat Calhoun, of Calhoun Falls, S. C., one of the largest southern planters, headlining the program. Mr. Calhoun, vice president of Parsons-Taft Company, loan bankers, of Chicago, will discuss the problem from the standpoint of mortgage holders.

Wednesday will be devoted to the problem of credit for dairy cows and other live stock for Georgia farmers and the advanced credit plans for their solution. Among the speakers will be Hugo Larson, vice president of Foremost Dairies, a J. C. Penney organization, and J. P. Penney, president of the Georgia Farmers' Union.

Thursday is scheduled to be the "big day," when the subject will be plans for celebrating the bi-centennial of Georgia's settlement and advertising Georgia.

William A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools, will make the opening address and Dr. Sam W. Small, of The Constitution, "pinch hitting" for ex-Governor Chase Osborn, of Michigan, will lead the discussion.

The part Georgia women may have in the celebration will be outlined by Mrs. A. H. Brenner, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and the part Georgia newspapers may have will be discussed by Dr. Witherpoon Dodge, that of the Georgia manufacturers by J. P. McGrath, the interest of organized labor by Louis P. Marquardt, and that of Georgia schools by M. L. Duggan, state superintendent.

There will be a subscription luncheon on the roof of the Ansley, after which the part other Georgia cities and civic organizations may take in arranging for the bi-centennial celebration will be further discussed.

To Plan Concerted Action.

The first two days of the conference will be devoted, as the subjects for discussion indicate, to working out arrangements for concerted action and workable methods of getting mortgage farms into the hands of owners and reopening the market for farm loans in this state. The problem of the perennial tenant farmer will also have a conspicuous place on the program.

Among the hopeful things about the conference is a prospect that Georgia will soon share in the $15,000,000 development appropriation now pending in the lower house of congress. A large settlement near Albany has been agreed upon and passage of the bill will see concrete work going on along the lines formulated by southern agricultural leaders and already approved by the United States senate.

Approximately 100 leading Georgia farmers and bankers are expected to be present for the opening session this morning.

Reporters Discover 'Key' Man and Disquiet Comes to Many Involved Eight Years Ago.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—First official inquiry in to the story related exclusively to the United News by Otis Hefner, hitherto missing "key witness" in the eight-year-old William Desmond Taylor murder mystery, began today.

State Parole Officer Edward Whyte visited the former Folsom convict late today at an address supplied by George E. Powers, the reporter who found Hefner living under another name and attempting to keep secret his real identity.

Hefner repeated to Whyte the signed statement he had made to the United News, and assured the parole officer that he was earnestly attempting a comeback in civil life.

ALLIES DECLARE REPARATIONS PLAN MUST BE UNIFORM

Creditor Nations Insist U. S. Accept Reduction or Loss of Payments on Same Basis as Others.

BY A. R. DECKER.
(Copyright, 1930, by The Constitution, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)
THE HAGUE, Holland, Jan. 6.—Germany's creditor nations today demanded that if reparations payments to them are reduced, payments made separately to the United States also be reduced in proportion, and that if payments to the allies cease, payments to America also be stopped.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German reichsbank, is coming to The Hague to help out the floundering German delegation, which seems to miss the expert guidance of Gustav Stresemann, late foreign minister. Schacht has been sent for, despite opposition to him in Berlin and The Hague, on the pretext that he is needed as an expert on the highly involved and technical question of Young plan financing, but the truth is that the German delegation needs a strong-willed and practical leader.

The French delegation will send a memorandum tomorrow to the German delegation explaining Paris' viewpoint on sanctions and proposing a formula to be included in the final protocol, it is believed. The British signatures will probably not be attached to the memorandum, but both the British and Italian delegations will have seen and approved the message before it is sent.

Philip Snowden at first was more inconsistent than the French that sanctions be provided for, but he has since changed his mind on the question several times since the conference opened.

The Germans made a mistake in demanding that the creditor nations write into the final protocol an express abandonment of the right to resort to sanctions if Germany withholds payments beyond a fixed time. The French wanted to omit all reference to sanctions, and the British declared themselves disinterested in the matter, but now that the Germans have insisted on the inclusion of sanctions or finding a formula for covering their possible use, the British support the French in their new stand.

The French declare that although the German anti-Young plan bill was voted down in the recent plebiscite, the nationalist parties of the reich may get the upper hand in the later years of the Young plan's operation and attempt to repudiate German obligations.

In view of this new turn of events a paragraph on sanctions will probably be included in the final protocol, but it will provide for them rather than provide for their relinquishment. The formula probably will be, first, the consultative committee of the international bankers will determine whether or not Germany has defaulted; second, the world court will decide whether or not the default is willful.

Here Schacht is also wanted at The Hague to straighten out the tangled question of the moratorium for conditional payments. Present plans call for payment by Germany of the first three years' annuities at one time, at the end of the third year of the moratorium. The Germans declare that it is impossible to pay all three annuities at once.

The bank of international payments may be able to grant credits to Germany for this payment.

The conference is anxious not to jeopardize the mobilization of reparations in any way that might discourage American banks from taking German bonds, and is therefore taking great care to avoid political complications. If sanctions are provided for it will probably be specified that all the interested creditor nations must act together, and that no one nation shall act alone.

U. S. SOLON NAMED IN BRIBE CHARGE BY CHICAGO JURY

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—Investigation of corruption charges against the Chicago civil service system resulted today in indictment of Congressman Stanley H. Kunz and his son, Stanley M. Kunz, was accused of having accepted $400 for engineering the appointment of Roman Trochowski to the police department. The true bill was returned against the congressman and his son after it had been charged that jobs in both departments were being bartered.

The jury, which was sworn in today, was expected to continue a civil service, police and fire department inquiry which was started several months ago after it had been charged that jobs in both departments were being bartered.

3 LOCAL FIREMEN AND VOLUNTEER INJURED IN BLAZE

Three firemen and a man who sought to aid them were severely burned today after 8 o'clock Monday night in fighting a fire that did considerable damage to the home of Willis M. Everett, Jr., 3083 Piedmont road, N. E.

The injured were T. W. McGee, fireman; J. L. Childers, fireman; and W. J. Cowan, a driver, all of engine company No. 10, and C. J. Dodd, of 640 Burns street, an employee of the Southern railway.

The men were hurt, reports said, by an explosion in the basement of the residence, where the blaze was confined after having started from a defective fuse.

Occupants of the house were away when the fire was discovered.

TAFT ILL, TO SEEK RETURN OF HEALTH

Chief Justice Yields to Family Urging and Will Enter Washington Hospital To Recuperate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Chief Justice Taft has decided to direct all his efforts toward the recuperation of his strength during the next few weeks.

He is in a weakened physical condition, due to a recurrence of the bladder trouble for which he was treated several years ago.

With much protest, he finally yielded to the importunities of his family, his physician and his associates of the supreme court, and will go into Garfield hospital here for treatment. It is expected that within a week he will be sufficiently relieved to go to Asheville, N. C., where he will rest.

Last June, in a weakened condition caused by the high tension under which he had been pushing the work of the supreme court, he went to Cincinnati to visit his brother, Charles F. Taft, who died last week. He overtaxed his strength on the trip, and was forced to undergo hospital treatment before starting for Murray Bay, Canada, for the summer.

He was wheeled to his train in a chair after taking hospital treatment and was hopeful that summer's rest would restore his strength. In that, however, he was disappointed.

He suffered a slight accident while at Murray Bay which aggravated an already weakening nervous condition. He came to Washington to attend the conference of circuit judges early in October to accelerate the clearing up of business in federal courts throughout the country. Then he took up his own court work.

Although Mr. Taft gradually grew weaker he refused to take a rest and attended every session of the court until it went into recess early in December.

Last week he insisted on attending his brother's funeral in Cincinnati, against the advice of his physician and the urgent requests of his associates on the court. His strength was further taxed because of the close bond that had existed between them.

When the chief justice returned to Washington on Saturday he went directly from the station to the conference room of the court and for several hours worked on court cases. Yesterday he reluctantly yielded to the advice to take hospital treatment and rest. He did not come to the regular court session today and will remain free from court work in the hope that by doing so he will more quickly recover his strength.

The family of Mr. Taft, his physician and his associates on the court expressed confident belief that, with the hospital treatment and rest, he would soon be able to resume his official duties.

Those most intimately familiar with his exact condition today said they believed the trouble would respond quickly to treatment, as it did before. They predicted that, after he obtains relief he will be able to build up a nervous system and return once more to the court.

One of his closest associates on the court expressed the opinion that the chief justice would close the present term of the court in June with as large a volume of business to his credit as he had last year.

Decision of Court.

"It seems that in that case the supreme court had held that a vacancy in office does not occur by the expiration of the term, but that the old officer should continue to exercise the duties of the office until he is replaced by a new officer," said Mr. Gregory, who was not appointed but confirmed by the senate; that such an appointee has no right to fill any duty of the office until his appointment is confirmed.

"The supreme court held that while the governor may appoint in case of a vacancy and the appointee may act until the senate passes on the appointment, that this does not apply where the former officer continues to hold over; for in such a case there is no vacancy. It takes death, resignation or removal to create a vacancy to which the governor may appoint without confirmation by the senate."

So I am told the supreme court held in that case. It was under this ruling that Mr. Holder continued to hold over as chairman of the highway board for two years, when the senate refused to confirm any of the persons appointed as his successor.

Believing, therefore, that Mr. Gregory has never been legally elected state game and fish commissioner, I could not recognize him as such without violating my oath of office. If Mr. Gregory has never been legally elected, Mr. Twitty is the legal commissioner. This is so whether his election was legal or not, for under the game and fish act he holds over until his successor is legally elected and qualified."

U. S. FARM BOARD TELLS COTTON MEN TO CUT ACREAGE

Cannot Protect Farmers Who Deliberately Overplant—Must Raise Own Food and Seed Crops.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Counsel with its plans for completing organization this month of the giant cotton marketing corporation, headquarters for which may be established in Atlanta, the federal farm board today moved in a new direction toward aiding southern farmers in securing better prices for their cotton crop during the current year.

In a formal statement issued after a study of last year's crop and market operations, the board strongly urged southern farmers to curtail their cotton acreage this spring. The board's statement is unique in that it throws the full force of the federal government's influence behind a movement that has long been agitated in the cotton belt, though not always with material success—the reduction of acreage as a means of preventing overproduction.

Viewed in the light of the board's plans to organize the $50,000,000 cotton marketing agency, which will be held here January 9, today's statement indicates that a genuine effort will be made to stabilize the cotton producing industry of the south and remove as far as possible some of the disastrous price fluctuations which have characterized the past. In making public the appeal to southern planters, board officials indicated that the same policy would be adopted with respect to producers of other important agricultural commodities.

The board's appeal to farmers of the south is a direct result of the fact that the cotton crop of 1929 was the largest in the history of the industry, and that the price of cotton has fallen to a level which is not only a hardship to the producer but also a detriment to the consumer.

Dog's Slayer, Found, Faces Trial Friday

J. H. Williams, Neighbor of Brown, Denies That He Tortured 'Tut.'

Trial of J. H. Williams, of 60 Fairhaven circle, on a charge of killing "Tut," a white bulldog, which was the property of E. F. Brown, of 48 Fairhaven circle, will be held Friday by Justice of the Peace Dwight Minnieton, of Buckhead. Williams was served with a warrant Monday by County Policeman Cal Cates, who is said to have dug up the information pointing to Williams as the man who killed the dog. Williams posted a bond of $300.

The defense of Williams will be that he did not torture "Tut," as has been charged, but that he hit the dog accidentally with a rock while trying to scare away several dogs fighting in his drive-way, and that he later dispatched the animal with an ax when he saw that it was suffering and could not recover, Williams said Monday.

A friend, who assisted him in disposing of the animal's body by helping to carry it in a machine to the place where it was found, will be produced by Williams at the trial, as will Williams' statement that after the animal was dead it was placed in a sack and carried to the spot where it was discovered.

Following discovery of the animal's body last week officers of the Atlanta Humane Society reported that a sack had been tied about its head and forelegs, and that there was suspicion that the animal had been smothered to death, from the signs of a struggle on the ground.

Williams said that he had not reported the matter to Brown because he feared that Brown would think he had killed the dog wantonly and that there would be violence.

Miss Lela Roberts, secretary of the humane society, said that rewards for the identification of the dog's killer had reached $400 Monday, and that delivery of the animal will be made to the humane society. Miss Roberts said that Officer Cates had obtained the information leading to Williams' identification as the dog's killer.

Brown has retained J. W. Weaver as counsel for the prosecution.

Miss Roberts said that "Tut" was not last week when representatives of the humane society reached the scene where he was found, and that, in mercy, the officers of the society put the dog to death with an injection of strychnine. There were evidences of the dog's struggles on the ground, produced by his efforts to get out of the smothering sack, the officer reported, according to Miss Roberts. This evidence will be presented at the trial, she declared.

Organization of New Council Marks Official Birth of Borough of Atlanta, System's Largest Unit.

RAGSDALE NAMES NEW COMMITTEES

City Executive's Message Sounds Warning on Finances—Wiley L. Moore Reappointed Committee Head.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.
Election of Alderman J. Allen Couch, veteran member of council from the fifth ward, as mayor pro tem, and Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth, as provisional mayor pro tem; appointment of new committees for 1930, and delivery of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale's third annual address featured reorganization of the council of the borough of Atlanta Monday night.

With the reorganization a new era was ushered in because of the official birth of the borough of Atlanta, the largest political sub-division of the newly created Greater Atlanta. Another interesting feature was a council of 39, the largest number of full-fledged members ever to sit in the legislative hall.

Both Mr. Couch and Mr. Millican were the unanimous choice of their colleagues, Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, of the seventh, retiring from the race against Mr. Millican in order that the honor might be passed around to "my deserving colleague."

In his annual address Mr. Ragsdale emphasized the urgency of a policy of strict economy and in his committee assignments reappointed Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward, as chairman of the finance committee over the latter's protest, to enforce that policy.

The invocation at the reorganization ceremony was offered by Dr. David Marx, rabbi of the Hebrew Benevolent organization, and was followed immediately by the delivery of the mayor's address and appointment of committees.

Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward, placed the name of Alderman Couch before the body for the mayor pro tem's position, praising his long record of continuous service for the last 11 years. The motion was seconded by Alderman Robert E. Gann, of the sixth; Alderman Alvin Richards, of the thirteenth; Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the thirteenth; and a former councilman from the

BEAVERS' REPORT RECORDS INCREASE IN LIQUOR ARRESTS

The annual report of James L. Beavers, chief of police, made public Sunday, showing a 50 per cent increase in the homicide rate in Atlanta for 1929 over 1928, revealed also that during the year just closed arrests by the traffic squad almost doubled in number over the preceding year. A total of 10,882 arrests for infractions of the city's traffic regulations was recorded in 1929, against 5,214 for 1928.

An apparent increase in drunkenness during 1929 was revealed by the report, with 9,910 persons arrested for this offense. In 1928 there were 9,480 arrests on the charge.

Convictions in state courts in 1929 of persons arrested by police for various offenses numbered 3,347. In 1928 there were 2,476 convictions in state courts from arrests of police.

Clear, Warmer Seen for Today; Freeze Coming

Fair, slightly warmer weather is on tap for Atlanta today, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, but another period of low temperatures is expected towards the end of the week.

"An area of high pressure and sub-zero temperatures is central over Montana," he explained, "which means that it is due to be colder here before the week is out."

Just how cold, the bureau chief was unable to state so far in advance. Monday's range was from 41 up to 53 and today's extremes are scheduled to be in the neighborhood of 45 and 55.

The forecast received Monday night from the Washington bureau stated that Georgia's weather today would be characterized by "increasing cloudiness, followed by rain Tuesday night or Wednesday; colder Wednesday in north and central portions."

Japanese Banker Studies Georgia Cotton Situation

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 6.—(P)—Nearing the conclusion of a two years' personal study of world finance, banking systems, and economic conditions, Y. Kobayashi, representing the Mitsu Bank of Japan, is in Savannah studying the cotton situation. He expects to visit Washington soon and has a conference with President Hoover, he said here today.

In referring to the return of Japan to the gold standard he said his countrymen, and especially banking interests were grateful to the United States for quick response in making large loans, which enabled Japan to stabilize her currency on the gold basis.

Great strides, he said, had been made in Japan in the cotton business, about half of her imports of the staple being from the United States.

Mr. Kobayashi's study of world banking, he said, does not persuade him there is a likelihood of any radical change in financing of large projects, but feels rather that in spite of fires and rumors from time to time, the closer relation of international banking system is solving a problem that will reflect itself in the industrial and commercial world in aiding progress and increased prosperity.

Regarding the solution of overcrowded countries, the banker said he thought the world would gradually swerve to what he called the vertical, "We are now living almost wholly in the horizontal," he pointed out, "but when we solve the problem of living more on the vertical—a beginning is pictured in your great skyscraper buildings—and when we learn the lesson of intensive farming, the problem may adjust itself. In any event Japan has no ambition to conquer other nations to gain territory for her surplus population."

BIRMINGHAM SELECTED UNION HEADQUARTERS

Drive To Consolidate Mill Workers Will Be Directed From There.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 6.—(P)—The selection of Birmingham, Ala., as the southern headquarters of the American Federation of Labor in its proposed campaign to organize the south was announced late today by President William Green at the south-eastern labor conference here.

The announcement climaxed the day's sessions, which had included a keynote address by President Green in which he declared labor was coming south with an outstretched "hand of friendship."

He also announced the personnel of the committee which is to have charge of the proposed organizing campaign. The members of the committee are: Paul Smith, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America; W. C. Birthright, vice president of the Barbers' International Union; and Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America.

This committee, Green said, will begin work at once in making plans for "carrying the gospel of unionism" south of the Mason and Dixon line.

It is to arrange an itinerary for Green to visit "strategic" cities in the south for the purpose of addressing mass meetings and to initiate actual organization work.

During the day presidents of the southern federations of labor made addresses outlining the necessity for immediate organization.

Addresses also were made by a number of national officials, who told of plans for organizing in the various groups affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The southern presidents who spoke were: James L. Hurst, of Alabama; J. W. Adams, of Arkansas; O. L. Petry, of Georgia; T. A. Wilson, of North Carolina; Dowell E. Patterson, of South Carolina; Paul J. Armon, of Tennessee; and R. T. Bowden, of Virginia.

Among the other speakers were Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America; George L. Googe, of Savannah, Ga., personal representative in the south of William Green; W. M. Cohn, president of the International Association of Upholsterers; Fred Baer, president of the International Association of Fire Fighters; Miss Florence C. Hanson, secretary of the Federation of Teachers; Miss Matilda Lindsay, representing the Women's Trade Union league; and Mrs. F. M. Campbell, representing the Garment Workers.

McMahon, in his address, pointed to the former fights in the organization of textile unions and declared "we expect to have to fight here."

Green's address was featured by the declaration that "we believe that if we are permitted to function in the south, we could develop co-operation and understanding between employers and employees. We come with a hand of friendship."

Green also addressed communistic labor organizations, declaring that there must be a "never-ending, never-ending conflict between the American Federation of Labor and these organizations."

The resolution of censure, which invited all qualified democratic electors to participate in the county primary was introduced by Reynolds Dumbley, of Tallapoosa.

Dr. J. S. Harmon, of Elmore, the county chairman, presided.

The Elmore committee is the second to oppose the state committee's action. Jefferson county voting against the bars last Wednesday.

TEXAS OFFICERS KILL BANK THIEF IN BATTLE OF GUNS

RADIO BOARD ASKED TO STOP "OBSCENE" TALK AT KWKH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(P)—The federal radio commission and the attorney-general were asked in the senate today by Senator Dill, of Washington, to stop the broadcasting of "obscene language" by Station KWKH at Shreveport, La.

Dill had read a telegram from L. J. Watrous, of Minneapolis, Minn., in which a complaint against the station was made, and then expressed the opinion that if the radio commission believed it had no authority to prosecute, the attorney-general had such power under the penal provisions of the radio act.

"It would seem," the Washington senator said, "that public interest alone would justify the stopping of this broadcasting. The law makes it a crime to use profanity on the air."

The station is operated by W. K. Henderson, who is an outspoken opponent of chain stores.

In its new Exhibit Rooms Crane Co. pays tribute to Atlanta's growth

For three-quarters of a century Crane Co. has paced the needs of builders, through materials, through distribution, through service.

Now, on its 75th anniversary it gives evidence of continued growth by opening larger and more completely equipped Exhibit Rooms in Atlanta.

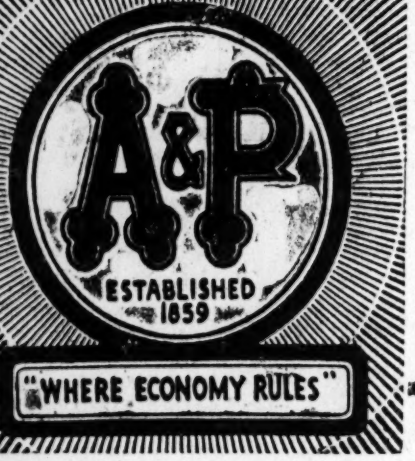

These new Exhibit Rooms will place more fully at the command of homeowners, architects, builders, and contractors, in Atlanta and its environs, the vast manufacturing and distributing resources, the wealth and experience of Crane Co.

The new Exhibit Rooms are located at Washington St. Viaduct. Everyone interested in building is cordially invited to visit them. The full line of plumbing and heating materials, valves, and fittings on view there will suggest many practical as well as decorative bathroom ideas. While the water systems, softeners, and heaters that can be examined will point the way to a more leisurely and carefree life.

Particularly fitting is the enlarging of Crane service to Atlanta at this time. For 75 years ago, when Atlanta was in its industrial infancy, Crane Co. was a tiny brass foundry. Today when Atlanta is the center of one of America's most important regions, Crane Co. is a vast organization with branches, factories, and warehouses girdling the world. So the opening of these Exhibit Rooms is a tribute to Atlanta as well as Crane Co.

ANKFORD PROPOSES NEW CABINET POST

Would Create Public Welfare Portfolio of Expanded Duties.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(Special.)—In a bill laid before the house today Representative W. C. Ankford, of Georgia, proposed the creation of a new department of government to be known as the department of general welfare.

Authority would be given the proposed new department to control all radio communication within the United States and exercise jurisdiction over educational activities to the extent of paying 50 per cent of the cost of providing free school books to children of the country.

Explaining the purpose and scope of the department, Representative Ankford in a concurrent statement said:

"My bill is to create a department of general welfare with authority and funds to control all radio communication within the United States for the use of the three great branches of our government and for the use and benefit of the public schools, churches and all other legitimate assemblies, groups and organizations of American people.

"The department would also be authorized and required to prepare, secure and provide such movie films as may from time to time be needed and requested by the departments of government and the organizations just mentioned.

"The bill carries provision for the federal government paying 50 per cent of the cost of free school books for the children of the country.

"The bill would enable the government by and through the radio and motion picture to do much more effectively and cheaply what is now attempted in hundreds of ways.

"There is nothing that would mean as much to the public schools and to all the people. The general welfare of every one would be greatly promoted.

"Under the scheme of the bill, the government would own and control all radio communications. Why not? What about the freedom of the air? Why not the radio, with all its miraculous possibilities, be owned and operated by all the people for all the people?

"In the movie field the department would only furnish whatever high-class films might be required for the schools, churches, lodges and various organizations of the country. Private enterprise could operate wherever there is demand for their activities.

"The government would only attempt to furnish clean, high-class, instructive, beneficial entertainment to the people.

"I feel that there are wonderful possibilities in the operation of a department of general welfare as here proposed."

Committee to Meet.

A committee from the November term grand jury, headed by T. J. Lyon, foreman, will meet with the new grand jury at 11 o'clock this morning to transmit to the January term jury all evidence and information gathered during the investigation of the past month into city hall affairs.

This is a routine practice of grand juries, it being the custom of all retiring grand juries to appoint a committee to wait on the incoming body and pass on information for the latter to work on, it was said.

Numerous witnesses were questioned by the November term grand jury during the exhaustive secret investigation which began after Alderman Ben Huie, of the third ward, declared on the floor of city council that he had been told that a sum of money had been paid to pay out money in order to defend his colleagues, as he did not believe that it was true.

Witnesses Closely Guarded.

During the investigation by the November term body, witnesses were kept in closely guarded rooms and the corridor outside of the grand jury room was kept clear by special investigators. It was known, however, that several members of council were among those summoned before the grand jury.

The grand jury invited anonymous communications and pledged itself to hold the names of witnesses in confidence. Presentments of the November grand jury reported that the jury found evidence of instances where reputable citizens have been held up and forced to pay out money in order to get city contracts, and that there seems to be a strong tendency that city money will be paid out on contracts only when graft has been paid in advance.

FINDING OF WITNESS REOPENS OLD CASE

February 2, 1922, to deliver a package of "hypo," and that Sands discovered Taylor stretched out on the floor with a bullet in his heart.

Saw Celebrity Leave.

4. That they—Hefner and Sands—saw a well-known motion picture figure hurriedly leaving the Taylor home just before Sands entered it and discovered the body.

In another conversation with United Press representatives, Hefner added further details to his initial statement.

"Sands had a key to Taylor's home," he said. "He used to be employed as Taylor's chauffeur and valet, before he was ostensibly discharged on a phony charge of burglary."

"I never knew why this charge was made by Taylor against Sands, except that it had something to do with a temporary falling out over the 'Hype' racket. They continued to do business after that incident, which occurred a few months before Taylor was killed and which was printed in all the papers."

"I have seen Taylor give Sands money in exchange for narcotics several times after that. Once he gave him $500, which was counted in my presence."

Hefner, tall and good looking, was nervous and worried about his enforced re-entry into the inquest, as were Mary Miles Minter, Mabel Normand, Edna Purviance and Mrs. Douglas MacLean.

"My new identity here is entirely clean and it's my own since I was paroled from Folsom where the 'two-time losers' go. He was released in 1925 and on March 9, 1926, went to Folsom again for one to six years on another narcotics charge."

Two Actresses
ARE IN HOSPITAL.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—Two of three motion picture actresses who figured in the William Desmond Taylor murder investigation case in 1922, are in California sanitariums.

Mabel Normand, screen comedienne and wife of Lew Cody, is in a hospital at Monrovia, severely ill of tuberculosis. She has been in the sanitarium for several months. Her condition today was reported as "satisfactory."

She was questioned at length in the original murder investigation after authorities were informed she was apparently the last friend of the director to see him alive.

Mary Miles Minter, who also was questioned in the case, is in a Santa Barbara hospital undergoing a diet treatment. She refused today to be interviewed after the United News and unearthed new evidence in the Taylor case. She has refused repeatedly to discuss the case since the investigation was revived recently by former Governor F. W. Richardson.

The third actress who figured in the 1922 probe is Edna Purviance.

PERSHING DECIDES
AGAINST MAKING
RACE FOR SENATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—John J. Pershing has decided against becoming a candidate for the United States senate from Nebraska.

The World War commander-in-chief has made no expression of his intention, but his associates were positive today he would not oppose Senator George W. Norris for the republican nomination.

Pershing's refusal is believed to have been communicated to Nebraska friends who started a movement to "draft" him.

Pershing here today was invested with the thirty-third degree of the Masonic lodge. He was formally made knight commander of the court of honor in a ceremony participated in by many Scottish Rite Masons, and later was guest of honor at a banquet attended by Senators Denson, Illinois; Fess, Ohio; McMaster, South Dakota; Allen and Capper, Kansas, and Robinson, Indiana.

HARRY LEE
IS IDENTIFIED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 6.—(United News.)—Harry Lee, connected with the William Desmond Taylor case in Los Angeles, which has been reopened by the finding of Otis Hefner by the United News, is a Chinese opium smuggler and gunman, it was revealed today by the state bureau of identification. Lee was connected with the Los Angeles case by a former cellmate in Chicago.

The Chinese gunman is now serving a term in Folsom prison on a narcotics charge. At one time he was arrested in Los Angeles as a murder suspect.

Lee's record dates back to 1908, when he was sent to Whittier school for boys on a burglary charge in Los Angeles. In August, 1912, he was arrested on a white slavery charge in Los Angeles and again in 1914 for conspiracy.

He served 13 months in San Quentin for opium smuggling in 1916 and 1917, and was arrested as a murder suspect on April 30, 1917.

Lee went to prison again July 18, 1923, on a narcotics charge pressed against him in Los Angeles. This time he served at Folsom where the "two-time losers" go. He was released in 1925 and on March 9, 1926, went to Folsom again for one to six years on another narcotics charge.

MARY MILES MINTER
REFUSES INTERVIEW

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Jan. 6.—(United News.)—Mary Miles Minter, former screen actress, who was questioned in the William Desmond Taylor murder case, has refused today to be interviewed after the United News and unearthed new evidence in the Taylor case. She has refused repeatedly to discuss the case since the investigation was revived recently by former Governor F. W. Richardson.

Commission Erred.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The District of Columbia court of appeals today ruled the federal radio commission had erred in its allotment of time for stations WLS and WENR, operating in the Chicago district, and ordered an equal division of broadcasting time between them.

Committee to Meet.

A committee from the November term grand jury, headed by T. J. Lyon, foreman, will meet with the new grand jury at 11 o'clock this morning to transmit to the January term jury all evidence and information gathered during the investigation of the past month into city hall affairs.

This is a routine practice of grand juries, it being the custom of all retiring grand juries to appoint a committee to wait on the incoming body and pass on information for the latter to work on, it was said.

Numerous witnesses were questioned by the November term grand jury during the exhaustive secret investigation which began after Alderman Ben Huie, of the third ward, declared on the floor of city council that he had been told that a sum of money had been paid to pay out money in order to defend his colleagues, as he did not believe that it was true.

Witnesses Closely Guarded.

During the investigation by the November term body, witnesses were kept in closely guarded rooms and the corridor outside of the grand jury room was kept clear by special investigators. It was known, however, that several members of council were among those summoned before the grand jury.

The grand jury invited anonymous communications and pledged itself to hold the names of witnesses in confidence. Presentments of the November grand jury reported that the jury found evidence of instances where reputable citizens have been held up and forced to pay out money in order to get city contracts, and that there seems to be a strong tendency that city money will be paid out on contracts only when graft has been paid in advance.

FINDING OF WITNESS
REOPENS OLD CASE

February 2, 1922, to deliver a package of "hypo," and that Sands discovered Taylor stretched out on the floor with a bullet in his heart.

Saw Celebrity Leave.

4. That they—Hefner and Sands—saw a well-known motion picture figure hurriedly leaving the Taylor home just before Sands entered it and discovered the body.

In another conversation with United Press representatives, Hefner added further details to his initial statement.

"Sands had a key to Taylor's home," he said. "He used to be employed as Taylor's chauffeur and valet, before he was ostensibly discharged on a phony charge of burglary."

"I never knew why this charge was made by Taylor against Sands, except that it had something to do with a temporary falling out over the 'Hype' racket. They continued to do business after that incident, which occurred a few months before Taylor was killed and which was printed in all the papers."

"I have seen Taylor give Sands money in exchange for narcotics several times after that. Once he gave him $500, which was counted in my presence."

Hefner, tall and good looking, was

nervous and worried about his enforced re-entry into the inquest, as were Mary Miles Minter, Mabel Normand, Edna Purviance and Mrs. Douglas MacLean.

"My new identity here is entirely clean and it's my own since I was paroled from Folsom where the 'two-time losers' go. He was released in 1925 and on March 9, 1926, went to Folsom again for one to six years on another narcotics charge."

Two Actresses
ARE IN HOSPITAL.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—Two of three motion picture actresses who figured in the William Desmond Taylor murder investigation case in 1922, are in California sanitariums.

Mabel Normand, screen comedienne and wife of Lew Cody, is in a hospital at Monrovia, severely ill of tuberculosis. She has been in the sanitarium for several months. Her condition today was reported as "satisfactory."

She was questioned at length in the original murder investigation after authorities were informed she was apparently the last friend of the director to see him alive.

Mary Miles Minter, who also was questioned in the case, is in a Santa Barbara hospital undergoing a diet treatment. She refused today to be interviewed after the United News and unearthed new evidence in the Taylor case. She has refused repeatedly to discuss the case since the investigation was revived recently by former Governor F. W. Richardson.

The third actress who figured in the 1922 probe is Edna Purviance.

PERSHING DECIDES
AGAINST MAKING
RACE FOR SENATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—John J. Pershing has decided against becoming a candidate for the United States senate from Nebraska.

The World War commander-in-chief has made no expression of his intention, but his associates were positive today he would not oppose Senator George W. Norris for the republican nomination.

Pershing's refusal is believed to have been communicated to Nebraska friends who started a movement to "draft" him.

Pershing here today was invested with the thirty-third degree of the Masonic lodge. He was formally made knight commander of the court of honor in a ceremony participated in by many Scottish Rite Masons, and later was guest of honor at a banquet attended by Senators Denson, Illinois; Fess, Ohio; McMaster, South Dakota; Allen and Capper, Kansas, and Robinson, Indiana.

HARRY LEE
IS IDENTIFIED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 6.—(United News.)—Harry Lee, connected with the William Desmond Taylor case in Los Angeles, which has been reopened by the finding of Otis Hefner by the United News, is a Chinese opium smuggler and gunman, it was revealed today by the state bureau of identification. Lee was connected with the Los Angeles case by a former cellmate in Chicago.

The Chinese gunman is now serving a term in Folsom prison on a narcotics charge. At one time he was arrested in Los Angeles as a murder suspect.

Lee's record dates back to 1908, when he was sent to Whittier school for boys on a burglary charge in Los Angeles. In August, 1912, he was arrested on a white slavery charge in Los Angeles and again in 1914 for conspiracy.

He served 13 months in San Quentin for opium smuggling in 1916 and

While Designers Add Grace and Color, Engineers Seek for Greater and More Silent Power.

BY OSCAR LEIDING.
Automobile Editor Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(P)—The "stars" of the 1936 automobile show, 325 models standing for review in Grand Central palace, hum a theme song of power.

Eyes catch striking colors, streamlining, and low-hung bodies, but half the story of new monarchs of the road lies concealed beneath hoods where engineers have centered their talent.

Sixteen cylinders are introduced for the first time in American automobile history; there are more lights than sixes; and where cylinders have not been added there often are larger bores or more compression.

Four cars formerly powered by six-cylinder motors appear as eights. Two are additions to lines of sixes, but the others are eights exclusively. Easier breathing for engines of greater power is reflected in larger carburetors, down-draft manifold systems, and heat control that either is automatic or hand operated.

Oil Improvements.

Efforts to wrest the full energy from every drop of gasoline have been matched by new methods of oil usage. One maker introduces for the first time a part of the radiator partitioned off to cool the oil supply; others have new and larger pumps to circulate the lubricant.

Engine noise has been reduced and isolated in many instances so it may not be carried back to passengers. Rubber blocks are more generally used for engine mountings.

Road shocks are absorbed for one eight-cylinder engine by the springs through a new device, "snatchroizer." Anchored to the car frame, a rod runs through the crankcase to a rocker arm which is moved slightly from side to side, preventing outside shocks from communicating extreme motion to the engine.

An air-cooled make introduces what is called "the first airplane type motor." The power plant was tested in an airplane, substituting a propeller for the flywheel and taking the ship into the air for straight and stunt flying.

Aviation design influences not only motors but bodies, where smooth curves and smart lines reflect hidden power and less air resistance. Two front-wheel drives, taking part for the first time in the annual fashion parade, are extremes in displaying ground-hugging, air-piercing trends.

Unit Systems. All models present units, rather than a succession of parts fastened together. Fenders flare naturally from the bodies, many of which are of mono-piece construction. Wheels are smaller.

Some bodies are not only "air-minded" but follow architectural styles, patterns being taken from modern skyscraper effects, with perpendicular lines and recesses.

The automotive industry has made a point of the rainbow and designers have developed new shades, from bizarre reds to pale greens and grays. There is also more liberal use of chromium-plating and hardware is spiced with geometrical figures.

Steering wheels, with lesser spokes, offer less "blind spots." Steering gears have been made "shimmy-proof." Shatter-proof glass is of more general use, as is four-speed transmission. There are more cars equipped with radio, "finger control" of starters, lights, and heated windshield cleaners.

STATUS OF RADIO BOARD UNCERTAIN

BY MARTIN CODEL.
(Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—As the federal radio commission rounds out its third year of existence the status of its several members is the subject of some concern in the radio realm.

A question being asked generally in radio circles is whether the present members of the commission, three of them Coolidge appointees and two of them Hoover choices, will be reappointed when their terms expire February 23.

President Hoover has given no indication of his intentions, but they will probably be made known within a month. It is generally supposed the president has kept his eye on the board controlling radio, for his own interest in radio has been deep ever since the broadcasting industry sprang into being under his supervision as secretary of commerce.

There has been an insistence on the part of certain interests dissatisfied with the commission's policies or actions that changes in personnel may be expected. Close inquiry, however, fails to elicit any substantial foundation for this belief, although many political representatives are known to be angered over broadcast assignments in their respective constituencies.

Then there is also a report that members of the republican national committee have expressed their disapproval of some of the acts of the commission and some of the utterances of certain members.

The federal radio commission has been buffeted about by politics since its inception, chiefly because it has been found physically impossible to satisfy the local radio wants of all communities because of the scarcity of wave lengths and the interference that results when the wave lengths are crowded with a multiplicity of stations.

The commission's insuperable task of satisfying everybody was also complicated in an administrative way by the deaths of several of its members and the resignations of others.

The commissioners are Judge E. O. Sykes, of Mississippi, the only member of the original board of 1927; H. A. LaFont, of Utah, next in seniority; Chairman Ira E. Robinson, of West Virginia; Major General Charles Mck. Saltzman, of Iowa, former chief of the army signal corps; and W. D. L. Starbuck, of New York.

Each was appointed from the zone embracing the section of the country including his state. The latter two were named by Hoover.

General Saltzman is particularly close to President Hoover because of an intimate affiliation during the 1927 international radio conference here, over which Hoover presided as chairman of the American delegation.

His reappointment, if he chooses to accept it, is regarded as a certainty, and it is not unlikely that he will be the next chairman of the commission.

The zone system of appointments still prevails. On that score, President Hoover obtained no action from congress, although he asked for the elimination of the zone appointment restriction in his annual message to congress last month. There was little or no difficulty, however, in obtaining an indefinite extension of the commission itself. This met in a large measure a request for permanency and stability for the radio control board which was also made by President Hoover.

Rumors are flying thick and fast, but no credence can be given any of them. The only definite statements about appointments were made during the recent senate debates on radio, when it was said that the senate will inquire closely into the actions and attitudes of each commissioner before confirming them when their appointments are submitted in February.

One thing is certain: if the present membership of the commission is reappointed, it will assume an attitude of vigor and determination on many matters it has in recent months either ignored or straddled for obvious political reasons.

PRISON OFFICIALS MEET WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT BODY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(P)—Nationally known experts on prisons were called into conference today by the law enforcement commission as it moved to ferret out the causes for the unprecedented number of outbreaks among convicts in recent months.

Recognizing the problem as one of the more serious of those the commission has been called upon to solve, Judge Kenneth Macintosh, chairman of the sub-committee on penal institutions, discussed for several hours with the group the basic reasons for the outbreaks and proposals to obviate such troubles. A consulting committee headed by Dr. Hastings H. Hart, consultant in penology of the Russell Sage Foundation, was appointed to formulate conclusions.

Various causes were assigned by members of the conference, including overcrowding, clothing, food and the questions of restrictions, the view of some being that severity of treatment of prisoners contributed more to friction than too much liberality.

Another question, brought largely into the discussion was that of why prisons do not reform or cure, and it was indicated that information would be sought on the number of "repeaters" who have returned to prison to help swell the convict population.

NATIONAL BANK BRANCH MEASURE IS BEFORE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(P)—A bill to authorize national banks to establish or acquire branches within the limit of the respective federal reserve districts was introduced today by Representative Beedy, republican, Maine.

The measure was introduced shortly after the house banking committee organized and prepared to hold hearings on several banking measures recently submitted. The bill would provide that state banks might be members of the federal reserve system without reference to the geographical area in which they might establish branches.

Every corporation which might own or control the majority of the stock of more than one national bank or state member banks of the federal reserve system would be subject to the visitatorial powers of the comptroller of currency.

Beedy said that he introduced the measure "only as a basis for investigation of branch banking."

CHICAGO'S 85 CRIMES LAID TO POLICE CUT

Murders, Holdups, Shootings and Stabbings Since Reduction on Saturday.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(United News).—Eighty-five assorted crimes here in the last two days were attributed to Police Commissioner William E. Russell, tonight to the forced ousting of 473 men from his office.

The police force was slashed Saturday when the city council pared down the 1936 budget in a final effort to save the city from actual bankruptcy.

Since then there have been two murders, 17 holdups, 12 shootings and four stabbings. Dismissal of the policemen, said Russell, was responsible for the most part for the sudden crime wave.

Almost three times as many crimes were committed, he said, as during a similar period last week while the force was intact.

The fire department, meanwhile, was operating on a force 200 men less than usual because of the same financial stringency. Several fire companies were disbanded altogether, while the city's three fire fighting boats, valued at $1,000,000, were placed out of commission.

"I shall not be responsible if a fire breaks out in any one of a number of unprotected localities," said Captain A. W. Goodrich, fire commissioner. The fire department simply cannot function efficiently without enough men to use its apparatus.

Alderman John S. Clark charged both Russell and Goodrich with "making a grandstand play" in an effort to get Mayor William Hale Thompson to veto the "economy budget."

"If the mayor does veto the budget, I don't know what Chicago will be left," Clark said. "The city already is $250,000,000 in debt and the interest charges on the money right now run $16,000,000 a year. Were we to go on spending as we have in the past, Chicago never would be able to dig out of the resultant financial mire."

Mayor Thompson is expected to make a ruling one way or another on the budget Wednesday. He has made no statement so far, but it was predicted freely that he would veto it.

Motor Identifies Skeleton of Youth Murdered in Woods

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Jan. 6.—(P)—Mrs. J. W. Diamond, of Greensboro, came here today and identified the skeleton found in a patch of woods near here last week as that of her son by a former marriage, Roy Johnson, 16-year-old Greensboro youth, missing for several months.

Police said the identification was positive. Mrs. Diamond recognized a ring, watch and other articles found upon the skeleton as belonging to her son.

A coroner's jury had returned a verdict of foul play. Indications are that the youth's skull was broken by a heavy club.

And Bind Books in London

BY MARGUERITE YOUNG.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(P)—Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, and his wife, Lady Isabella, are busily preparing for retirement next month to a comfortable town house in London, where he will bind books, and she will watch over a son getting ready to enter the diplomatic service, just as the father entered it 45 years ago.

The ancient and pretentious house they occupy now, the embassy that stands on the first ground purchased by a foreign government for its envoys to the United States, is also approaching the end of its career.

Before its occupants leave, it will be brilliant once more with a formal dinner party for Americans. Another famous visitor will be entertained in it, and a few more small, intimate groups will have tea for a last time within the mellowed walls.

But with the departure the embassy will be turned over to a wrecking crew. Already it has been sold to a real estate dealer, and a splendid new mansion is nearing readiness for the new ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, and his American wife. They will come next spring.

Sir Esme and Lady Isabella will leave it with mingled feelings. Lady Isabella's secretary said today:

"They are eager to get home to be with their four sons—sons they have seen so little, they think. But they are sorry to go away from here."

One of those sons, Edmond, is just 20 now.

The one who will follow in his father's footsteps, Hubert, is 22, and there is another still older, Francis, the youngest, is just 16, and still is attending school in preparation for a career in the army. Hubert was born in Washington.

All of the boys will live with their parents, the secretary said. That, in fact, is why Sir Esme and Lady Isabella are planning to buy a house in town. They will spend their winters in Rome, where they were married about a quarter of a century ago. Bookbinding will not be a business, the secretary said, but a hobby. Sir Esme will occupy himself with it for his pleasure, at his leisure.

He is still erect, his blue eyes alertly clear for all of his 68 years—clear enough to follow unerringly his drives on the golf course.

Lady Isabella, too, retains a youthful vigor. Her unflagging enthusiasm during the week she entertained Ishbell MacDonald was noticed wherever they went, always prompting the remark that it was characteristic of the blonde noblewoman who has led things socially by virtue of her personality as well as her position.

Her chief employment when they get home will be catching up with her reading.

The farewell dinner will be given this week, and next week Sir Esme and Lady Isabella will entertain again for General Jan Christian Smuts, leader of the opposition in south Africa, who is visiting this country at the invitation of the League of Nations committee of New York. Both of these affairs will be large ones, with all the eclat that has made the Lady Isabella these many years a social arbiter.

Do or a Orders Alcohol Used in Varnish Making To Be Further Denatured

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(P)—Instructions that alcohol used in making varnishes and lacquers must be further denatured were issued today by the prohibition commissioner.

It had been reported to the commission that ethyl alcohol used in the manufacture of varnishes and lacquers was being converted by bootleggers and used for beverage purposes.

The new orders provide that to every 100 gallons of ethyl alcohol there must be added four gallons of denatured wood alcohol and 10 gallons of normal butyl alcohol or refined fuel oil or amyl alcohol.

Doran said he thought the new ingredients would end the conversion.

PORT OF GALVESTON WINS RATE VICTORY

I. C. C. Holds New Orleans Is Benefitting Unduly Under Present Tariffs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(P)—Galveston and other Texas ports were victorious over New Orleans today in an order of the interstate commerce commission holding the latter city was benefiting unduly from rates between points on the Texas and Pacific railway and the Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

The commission ruled that rates on specific products in export, import and coastwise movement between points on the two roads and the ports were unduly preferential to the Louisiana city and prescribed a new schedule of rates designed to remove the inequalities.

Carload movements of grain and grain products, asphalt, cotton baling, cotton bale ties, green coffee, cotton factory products, cottonseed and peanut cake, meal and oil, packing house products, except soap, and turpentine, will be affected by the commission's ruling.

Rates on green coffee in carloads from New Orleans to Waco are held in the same report to be unduly preferential, and a new relationship was prescribed.

The decision on the port rates developed differences of opinion among commission members. The majority report was written by Commissioner Campbell. Commissioners Eastman and Brainerd presented separate concurring opinions, while Commissioners Porter, Myer and Woodcock dissented.

Dead From Gas.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 6.—(P)—Hospital attendants who examined the bodies of F. M. Buckner, 45, and Barnum Lewis, 25, of Big Laurel, N. C., who were found dead at a tourist camp here yesterday, expressed a belief today that the men were victims of carbon monoxide. A coroner's inquest was to be held this afternoon.

Deserted Wives Granted Right To Attack C a s h

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(P)—The New York law giving deserted wives the right to attach the bank deposits of their husbands today was sustained by the supreme court.

The New York city public welfare commissioner obtained an order to seize the deposits of Raffaele De Stefano in the Corn Exchange bank, upon representations that De Stefano had abandoned his wife and their infant child.

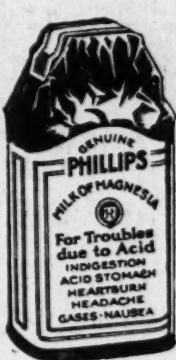

The bank contended the law was invalid because it did not provide opportunity to contest in the courts. Lower courts sustained the statute.

47 MEET TRAGIC DEATHS IN FLOYD COUNTY DURING '25

There were four suicides, seven homicides, six drownings, 16 killed by automobiles, three burned, three in railroad accidents, two in mill accidents, three from falls and one each from accidental discharge of firearms, freezing and electrocution.

S. PROPOSES INCREASE IN BORDER STATIONS

Would Make All Passage
From Canada Enter Customs House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Plans for tightening up the Canadian border to prevent liquor smuggling have been worked out at the treasury department and tentatively provide for an increase of approximately 500 in the number of ports of entry and inspection and increase of the border guards.

Under the plan, the number of ports of entry would be raised from 90 to approximately 600 and entrance to or exit from the country forbidden except at the designated points. The plan has been proposed to Canada.

If finally approved it is expected to reduce to a minimum the smuggling of liquor into the United States and of merchandise from this country into Canada.

At present any person may enter the United States from Canada at any point, the only legal restriction being that if the crossing is made in a vehicle or merchandise is brought in, a report must be made to the nearest immigration station. As proposed, the ports of entry and exit will have an intensive patrol between. Any person attempting to cross the border except at designated places would be stopped and compelled to enter through one of the ports.

The 750 customs border patrol, 800 immigration inspectors and several hundred guards would be combined under one authority and their number greatly increased. At each of the ports and sub-ports at least one immigration officer, a customs officer and a public health service physician would be stationed, with as many guards as required.

Before the plan can be put into effect, an agreement must be reached with Canada as to where the ports of entry will be located. This is necessary so that the American and Canadian stations will be at the same points, or otherwise they would be useless.

Treasury officials who have been working out the plan, have found that Canada regarded it favorably, feeling that it would prevent smuggling into their country as well as into the United States.

NAVY DEPARTMENT IS ASKED TO NAME
SHIP FOR ATLANTA

The United States naval department Monday was asked by the council of the borough of Atlanta to name one of the new battleships after the city in a resolution offered by Councilman Frank H. Reynolds, of the eighth ward, and passed unanimously.

Mr. Reynolds directed that Secretary Charles F. Adams, of the navy, and Senators Walter F. George and William J. Harris, of Georgia, be furnished copies of the resolution.

Paper Requesting Funds for Books
Given Finance Body

The 1930 finance committee of council Monday was given several important papers to study in making up the January finance sheet.

A request for $125,000 to pay for free text books furnished Atlanta schools was referred to the committee, as was a resolution from the board of education asking the city to purchase a lot in the Cascade section of the seventh ward, near Olympian circle, on which to erect a four-room school house. Another paper calling for remodeling of the rifle range at Tech High school also was sent to the finance body.

ESCAPED CONVICT SURRENDERS AFTER 15 YEARS' FREEDOM

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 6.—(AP)—William Campbell, who was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in St. Clair county in 1913, and who escaped from a prison camp in Covington county two years later, presented himself at the desk of the warden of Kilby prison today, indicating that he wished to resume serving his sentence.

Questioned, Campbell said he went to Virginia after his escape and there found work in coal mines. He visited his former home in Alabama during Christmas holidays, he told prison officials, adding that he met old friends who prevailed upon him to give himself up.

With the surrender of Campbell today, it became known that three other escaped prisoners, one of them a member of the band which broke out of Speigner prison recently, had surrendered themselves since the first of the year. Lee Henderson, the Speigner escapee, returned to the prison to surrender.

M'CUTCHEON RENEWS FIGHT ON GAS RATES

Declaring he has been a target for anonymous threatening letters bringing about increased rates and a loss of business, Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, Monday reiterated his charges before council that Atlanta is being charged more for natural gas than any other city in the United States.

At the same time Mr. McCutcheon asked the Atlanta Gas Light Company, local distributors, to publish for the people of Atlanta an advertisement telling why rates are higher here than elsewhere and why it is necessary to levy a service charge.

"My efforts to obtain fair gas rates for the citizens of Atlanta have recently increased in receipt of several anonymous communications charging that they were made with a hope that Santa Claus would fill my stockings with increased rates," Mr. McCutcheon stated.

"All I have to say is that no one has nerve enough to come before me at any place in Atlanta and threaten me," he said. "I started this fight in an effort to get lower gas rates because I believe Atlantans are paying an exorbitant price for the commodity in comparison with other cities of the United States."

"You have just heard a communication read from the chairman of the Georgia public service commission declining to reopen the case concerning rates to be charged the citizens of Atlanta for natural gas."

"In my opinion this is the most important matter before the citizens of Atlanta at this time."

"Brown's directory of American gas companies, 1929 edition, reveals some interesting information when studied—for instance—annual production manufactured gas by the Atlanta Gas Light Company—1,810,000 cubic feet. If the rates charged, are let us say 40c per 1,000 cubic feet in excess of a fair and just price it will mean $725,000 per year for the Atlanta Gas Light Company."

"The same authority quoted above shows the number of domestic consumers in Atlanta as 42,400. The service charge allowed under the order of the Georgia public service commission is 65c per month or $7.80 per year. This service charge against our citizens amounts to $330,780 per year."

and is the property of A. W. Rosenfeld, who left it in front of the Standard Club.

The pair, who gave the names of C. N. Voyles, and J. L. Pharr, were arrested by Patrolmen E. P. Roberts and B. O. Carroll. Examination of the front door of the drug store near where the men were found revealed that the lock had been twisted off, the officers said.

TEN COAST GUARDSMEN
ADMIT LIQUOR THEFT

29 Others Await Trial—Officer's Boat Stolen by Mob.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Jan. 6.—(United News).—Thirty-nine enlisted men of the United States coast guard today were charged with being under the influence of liquor or of appropriating property which it was their duty to guard, as a drastic step in the effort of the service to clean up its troubles, centering here.

Fifteen of those charged are alleged to have taken liquor which they were assigned to unload a week ago from the seized run runner Flor Del Mar, and 25 others were alleged to have consumed some of the liquor.

The men were tried by a general court martial, headed by Commander M. J. Ryan, and ten trials had been completed tonight, the men having pleaded guilty. They were given 48 hours to file any statements in their own behalf. Then sentence will be passed and submitted for approval.

Of the other 29 men under charges, five have been placed under arrest and 24 are confined to their ships or to the coast guard base here.

While the court martial was in progress, a stir was created by news that the houseboat where Boatswain Alexander C. Cornell lived had been stolen early today by a gang of ruffians while Mrs. Cornell was in the house alone.

Police arranged to guard the boat hereafter, but tonight it had been moved and it was reported that the coast guard had towed it to a place where hoodlums would have difficulty approaching it again.

The attack was typical of the feeling said to exist among some elements hereabouts, as a result of the killing of three men by the coast guard guns when the Black Duck was captured December 29.

The names of the men under charges at the court martial were not given out.

More than half of them were recruits of two and three months service and were boys in their early twenties.

"They had not yet learned the responsibility they have to guard goods placed in their hands," said Lieutenant Commander Chalkier, commandant of the base.

Each case is being taken up separately. At one end of the long table sits the court, with Commander Ryan at the head of the table, his sword in its scabbard in front of him, pointing toward the defendants, the traditional symbol of accusation. The defendant sits at the opposite end of the table, facing the court.

Starting in the basement at the rear of the building, the fire was discovered shortly after it began, but firemen, arriving promptly, stood helplessly, prevented by lack of water from extinguishing the blaze.

The fire, which started in a room containing a value of $100,000, was lost, when only nominal damage would have resulted, according to firemen, had there been anything like sufficient water available.

Arriving at the scene about 8:15 o'clock, firemen at once began work on fire plugs. One was located about fifty yards from the building and a pump attached to drain water sufficient to keep three lines at high pressure, but these proved inadequate to cope with the blaze.

Firemen sought to lay another line from a plug at Collier road, half a mile distant, but could not reach the flames with that line.

Traffic on Peachtree road near the scene was paralyzed for three hours, as more than 5,000 Atlantans, afoot and in automobiles, sought to view the blazing building.

Mrs. Guy L. Wentworth, owner of the building and one of its occupants, was unable to advance any theory as to how the blaze started.

Mrs. A. M. Bell, 58, died at her home here early today. She had been in declining health for several months but had been confined to bed for only a few days.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, John and Harley Bell, of Duluth; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Stonecipher, of Sewanee, Tenn., and Mrs. G. M. Shilley, of Alpharetta; a sister, Mrs. Wilmer Moulder, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at Zion church. The Rev. C. M. Verrell will officiate and interment will be in the family cemetery.

Ed Heden, nationally famous flyer and pilot for St. El Johnson & Son, manufacturers of Johnson's floor wax, arrived at Candler field Monday on one of his periodic visits to this territory. Heden, who is the world's champion barrel-roller and a stunt pilot of renown, will remain here until Wednesday morning, when he will take off for Macomb, Jackson, Tampa and other points, finishing his tour at Miami January 12, when he will take part in the air races to be staged in the south Florida city. There he will join Freddy Lund and Bob Grant and the trio, all in taper-wing Waco's, will compete in the stunting contest. In the straight-wing J-5 Waco which Heden flew to Atlanta, he will take part in the spot-landing event and possibly other features.

Twelve committees were named recently by the aviation group of Tampa, Fla., to handle details of an air meet to be held there January 19. The one-day meet will be the outstanding air event there during the winter, according to its sponsors. A big aviation ball is among the projects. The state-wide air tour sponsored by the state chamber of commerce is scheduled to make one-night stops there on that date. The aerial tourists are to leave Miami January 16 following a national air meet there. These cities are to be visited in the order named: Brighton, West Palm Beach, Sebring, Sarasota, Bradenton, Clearwater, St. Petersburg, Tampa, Orlando, Winter Haven, Plant City, Lakeland, Gainesville, St. Augustine and Jacksonville. The trip will take about 1,200 miles, which means a number of demonstration flights during its stay here, will be handled by Pilot Miah, and will have Howard Throckmorton, president of the Kreutzer company, as the only passenger.

Mr. Throckmorton, who has been in the Candler field several times during the ship's stay here, was warm in his praise of Atlanta's municipal airport, and stated that the developments under way will make it one of the finest fields in this part of the country. The Kreutzer, the first to be seen in Atlanta, is an eight-place cabin monoplane, powered with three Kinner, 90-horsepower engines.

What is believed to have been a record for one day's airmail flight was set Tuesday, when planes of Interstate Airlines, Inc., covered the 623 miles from Atlanta to Chicago in a total time of three hours and 52 minutes. An average speed of 161 miles was maintained. Pilot W. Lawrence Jamieson flew from Atlanta to Evansville with stops at Chattanooga and Murfreesboro in two hours and 20 minutes. Pilot Joe Hammer then flew from Evansville to about 32 miles. Hammer averaged 172 miles an hour.

The tri-motor Kreutzer Alcock, which has been the S. M. A. field near Smyrna, for several days, will take off this morning on the return trip to its Los Angeles factory, via New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico.

The names of the men under charges at the court martial were not given out.

LOSS OF APARTMENT LAID TO WATER LACK

Sunday night's fire, in which a three-story brick veneer apartment house at 2181 Peachtree road was burned to the ground by flames of an origin yet undetermined, further emphasized the inadequacy of fire protection outside the city limits, according to Fire Chief John Terrell.

Starting in the basement at the rear of the building, the fire was discovered shortly after it began, but firemen, arriving promptly, stood helplessly, prevented by lack of water from extinguishing the blaze.

The fire, which started in a room containing a value of $100,000, was lost, when only nominal damage would have resulted, according to firemen, had there been anything like sufficient water available.

Arriving at the scene about 8:15 o'clock, firemen at once began work on fire plugs. One was located about fifty yards from the building and a pump attached to drain water sufficient to keep three lines at high pressure, but these proved inadequate to cope with the blaze.

Complete Five-Power Plan, Limiting All Types of Ships U. S. Policy at Naval Parley

American Delegation To Work Unwaveringly for Original Idea of Complete Limitations.

BY BYRON PRICE.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The basic considerations which are to guide American diplomacy at the London naval conference, now definitely established after weeks of preparation, are directed unwaveringly toward the original idea of a treaty signed by all five of the great powers, limiting every type of warship.

President Hoover's final consultations with the American delegates, who leave next Thursday for London, are taking into account the obstacles which have arisen since the pre-conference discussions began, but

'ENTIRE SYSTEM IS STRENGTHENED,'
SAYS D. P. BROWN

"When I Say I Feel Like a New Man I Mean Just That," Says Former Atlanta Resident.

When thousands of well-known men and women voluntarily and gladly lend their name and endorsement to a medicine, there can be no earthly doubt as to its genuine merit. Sargol has, through its superlative merit, reached the point where it is acknowledged to be one of the greatest medicines of modern times. It is helping to restore health to thousands by methods undreamed of a few years ago. An instance of the amazing powers of Sargol is shown by the statement of Davis P. Brown, well-known citizen of Arden, N. C., who is manager of Brown Pottery Manufacturing Co., Mr. Brown formerly resided in Atlanta and has many friends here. Read his enthusiastic statement:

"I hadn't enjoyed good health for several years, and about a year ago my stomach became in such terrible condition I couldn't eat a meal without suffering with indigestion. I always had a tight, heavy feeling in my stomach, and at times I had such spells of heart palpitation and smothering spells I could hardly get my breath. These spells would strike me at all hours of the night, and it seemed like I was up every few minutes taking soda, trying to get temporary relief. I was nervous and habitually constipated and pains in my back and shoulders kept me in misery. I was steadily losing weight and strength, and couldn't half-way attend to my business. Sargol had done my brother a lot of good—and he was so insistent that I try it—I finally bought a treatment.

"When I say that three bottles of this medicine made me feel like a new man I mean exactly what I say. I never enjoyed a better appetite than I do now, and I eat anything under the sun without a sign of stomach trouble, indigestion or other trouble. My nerves are steady again and I sleep all night long without waking. The pains in my back and shoulders have entirely disappeared. I've gained fourteen pounds, my whole system is invigorated and I have so much more strength and energy that it's a real pleasure to look after my business.

"Sargol Pills are a wonderful laxative. They rid me of constipation without the least upsetting effect. I am so thoroughly gratified with the results, I have insisted on my mother and another brother taking Sargol. I am very pleased to endorse this worthy medicine to the general public."

The Sargol Man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 14 Marietta St., where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this celebrated new scientific product. Sargol may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

JOURNALIST SPEAKS AT FLORIDA MEETING

Crawford Calls Commercialism Greatest Menace to Free Press.

WINTER PARK, Fla., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Welcomed by President Hamilton Holt in a speech which outlined boldly the problems and dangers which confront the press today, more than 100 registrants and a score of publicists attended the opening session tonight of the Rollins college institute of statesmanship. The institute, devoted to discussion of "The Formation of Public Opinion," will continue for five days.

F. Stuart Crawford, political writer for the New York Herald-Tribune, made the opening address on "The Making of Public Opinion in Political Campaigns." Other editors, economists and educators will take part in tomorrow's programs. These include Oswald Garrison Villard, Victor Rosewater, Lindsay Rogers, Judson King, and others.

Commercialism is the greatest menace today to freedom of the press, said Dr. Holt in his address tonight. Editors, he said, were far too apt to fall under the influence of large advertisers.

"The terms on which ads are taken tend to commercialize the whole tone of newspapers, until editors are afraid to say what they think," said Dr. Holt, who stated his belief that the future of the press depended upon the editors' integrity and character. "News-papers are public necessities," he declared, "and editors are the most important elements in keeping these necessities truly representative."

Mr. Crawford made the point that public opinion in political campaigns is no longer formed by hysterical eleventh hour appeals and demonstrations.

"Public opinion," he said, "is formed between campaigns, not during them. We must understand that the mass mind is being developed now through the process of day to day enlightenment. There is less response to lukewarm and sensationalism as public opinion becomes based more and more upon a knowledge of events and personalities gained through a long period of time. The growing habit of reading newspapers, the growing independence of newspaper from party dictation and the increasing accuracy of news columns and sincerity of editorial pages have led to more discriminating judgment on the part of the public."

"Public opinion formed day by day cannot be swayed by emotional appeal or swept from its moorings by waves of pre-election hysteria. Campaigns will tend to become largely reviews and summings up of educational material furnished voters daily in the interval between previous campaigns. The public should demand impartial reports of public matters with fair editorial interpretation of them."

The institute has registered for its second annual session delegates from Czechoslovakia. Advance enrollment shows greatest interest in the round table discussion on "How Publication is Made," under the direction of Professor Harold Bruce, of Dartmouth, with Clyde L. Lings' group on "Efforts to Control Public Opinion Propaganda" next in popularity.

WEST POINT ASKS MIRRORS TO SHOW CADETS ON HORSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—West Point cadets will be provided with mirrors to show them how they look on horseback under a request to the house war department appropriations subcommittee.

Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the academy, asked for funds to install mirrors in the riding hall to enable the cadets to see what he looks like on his horse, and get an idea of what he is doing. "Sometimes," he added, "you can tell him about it but he cannot see it himself very well."

JAMES M'GINNIS ELECTED MAYOR OF SUMMERVILLE

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Jan. 6.—(Special).—In a very quiet municipal election here, James L. McGinnis, one of Summerville's leading business men, was elected mayor for the ensuing year without opposition. Councilmen named were Henry M. McWhorter, first ward; Dr. O. A. Selman, second ward; B. H. Edmondson, third ward, and Walter Sturdivant, fourth ward. Only 65 votes were polled in the election.

KEEP UNCLE SAM IN PLACE.

In every session of congress there are many new proposals to involve the federal government in the activities of the states and the people. They are symptoms of the creeping advances of centralism and socialism, and of the draining away of the rights of the states and the duties of individual citizens.

The congressmen who enter these propositions into the national agenda do not mean to convert our federal system into a centralized parliamentary oligarchy. Every one of them would hotly repudiate such a charge. But that is the end of the road on which they are traveling. And if the people at large could only be awakened on the same day to the present tendencies toward a centralized government of possibly despotic power in place of their free representative system, they would call a sovereign halt upon congress and command their representatives to return to the landmarks of the constitution and the standards of the states' rights to self-control and determinations.

President Hoover has been observant even in his public relations to discover the baleful tendency and to pronounce against it.
In his annual message to congress, after reciting many federal co-operations with state functions and saying that heretofore they have been confined to research and dissemination of information and experience, he heartened many alert and earnest citizens by saying that any other attitude by the federal government would undermine one of the most precious possessions of the American people: that is, local and individual responsibility. That is the real core doctrine of constitutional state sovereignty over intrastate affairs, and Thomas Jefferson could not have stated it better.

To many casual congressmen and thinking citizens it seems "cute," of the young flapper pronounced to zoo elephant, to harness Uncle Sam to the state's provender truck to get the use of his power both cash and co-operation in things that are the state's sole business, they do not realize that when they say that they have traded a "precious possession," in Hoover's words, to the federal government for a mess of pottage; that is, the birthright sovereign power over their own concerns.

This American system of distinct rights and only delegated federal powers is more menaced today by centralists than at any period of Jackson's era. The sophoric argument to the people to keep asleep to the loss of their rights is an appropriation of money from the federal treasury and a siphon of officials paid from that source. When the process shall advance to the end its operation, the states will be destroyed, the people dependents in a central government and the nation managed by a many-headed colossus.

BABIES AND GAS-BUGGIES.

The fact that automobiles are be-built in this country faster than they are being born is giving subject of warm discussion among economists, life actuaries and social workers. Figuring the monopoly output at an average of 5,000 annually, it provides a car for every five families, the output of babies is 5,000, or one baby annually for 13 families.

The conundrum is where are the
to come from a quarter century ago to buy and use the antrop of automobiles, or what come of the great automobiliary and its workers in the meanwhile? If anyone knows the solution of that pertinent puzzle it is likely Henry Ford and the life insurance actuaries will be glad to listen to it.

Anyhow, there is relief from worry in the knowledge that babies, as a rule, last longer than automobiles, and that they are not exported in such numbers as the gas-buggies, that go to all parts of the world.
Maybe the babies will yet catch up and even head the production statistics. Let us hope so.

MORE POLICE—LESS CRIME.

The annual report of Chief of Police Beavers reveals to the city's inhabitants an alarming condition of criminal operations, dangerous to life, property and public order. The 37,224 arrests, figuring almost 102 every 24 hours of the year, show a prevalence of crimes and police offenses of which the actual arrests were only a modicum.

Homicides were 113, more than doubling the 55 of 1923, while other crimes in nearly every category showed almost equal doubling.
Compared with these startling figures the statistics of property recovered, stolen autos recaptured, and days served by miscreants in the stockade or on the chain gang are of insignificant consequence.

What the people want is protection that will terrorize the ranging criminals and end their orgy of murder, holdups, burglaries, assaults and snatch-theiving.

Chief Beavers points the pressing need to that end, as The Constitution has frequently emphasized it, and that is a larger and modernly equipped force of patrolmen. The people must demand better protection for their lives and property and take no denial. It is up to council to meet the emergency.
How it will do that is a problem which can be worked out here as it has been in other cities.

GREAT NATIONAL INCOMES.

It is not hard to understand why so many of the Europeans regard the United States with envious eyes when they scan the reports of our material prosperity. Many of our own people are as much amazed as are foreigners when they study the tables put out by the National Bureau of Economic Research. They show the total incomes of our people from manufacturing, mercantile, agricultural and unclassified earnings.

In 1909, twenty years ago, these totals amounted to $29,695,000, and in 1928 had grown to $89,419,000,000—that is, the national income had about tripled in the two decades. The common, or unclassified, incomes have risen from $5,000,000,000 to more than $16,000,000,000. In the first 10 years, 1909 to 1919, agricultural incomes went to a peak of $12,- 000,000,000, but has since fallen to between $6,000,000,000 and $8,- 000,000,000 annually.

The sensational gains were reported for manufacturing and merchandising. The former lifted its incomes from $5,481,000,000 in 1909 to more than $16,000,000,000 in 1928, while merchandising has had a rise from $3,685,000,000 to $13,137,000,000 in the same period of 20 years.

In the 20 years there were seven so-called business depressions, but it was in 1921 only, when the "great deflation" occurred, that there was any sag in the otherwise steady rise of the aggregate national income. The conclusion of the ablest business experts now, reinforced by the opinion of President Hoover, is that the increase of national incomes will certainly continue during the coming year, unaffected by the Wall Street earthquake of recent memory.

The town of Manville, Wyo., is being moved, house by house, outside the city limits to escape municipal taxes. We have been moving heaven and earth to attain the same results but never succeeded.

An Ohio man is the proud possessor of a cucumber pickle that has been preserved since 1877. Such things as this add to the gaiety of the nation, which must be preserved.

The administration is taking a lot of credit for that $160,000,000 income tax cut, but who made it possible? A still, small voice says the taxpayers.

We sometimes wonder if a tabloid editor when motoring hits all the mud holes.

Possibly Wall Street sufferers will get their money back through the day-light saving plan.

So far England's labor government works.

Winter may have its drawbacks, but no males are trying for the front page parading the downtown streets in pajamas.

A famous philosopher claims he can think better if people are whispering in the room. What a formidable presidential candidate he would make!

The administration has served notice that the legal bars must be put up—and that is just what the wets desire.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

THAT GALLSAC GRUMBLE.

The death rate from appendicitis has increased nearly a third in the last 10 years in Washington and Oregon, according to Dr. G. D. Dowling, of the former state. He remarks that physicians may lay the blame to neglect and delay of proper treatment by cultists of various kinds, "but search along possible errors is in order."
No wisecracking now, ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience.
This far western doctor only scratches the surface.

Cultists thrive and bloom in the golden west. Any nut with a line, a fair command of sales psychology and a good pitch can make a soft thing of it almost anywhere within a day's ride of the romantic Pacific. And does the laws, if any, regulating the healing business are strictly enforced?
Where the sun sets. Something about the climate, I reckon; that's the only way to account for the strange cure of various ailments which stand out where the sun sets. Something about the climate, I reckon; that's the only way to account for the strange
cure of various ailments which stand out where the sun sets.

But you may have a nice whopping, brimming beaker of castor oil or something, if Dr. Dowling, the doctor doesn't say a word about castor oil. But I'm telling you what I think about it. I think the castor oil or other cathartic so commonly resorted to by the appendix sufferer is developing in the early stage of "indigestion" or "bellyache." Is the chief danger, and more neglect or delay is comparatively more to be feared than the regular doctor, even in the effete east.

Dr. J. O. Bower and J. H. Clark, of Pennsylvania, also find an increase in the mortality of acute appendicitis in the last 10 years, and the two witnesses present facts indicating that 11,680 patients die in the course of a year as the result of the giving of castor oil in the present day acute appendicitis. So when or if you have a regular bellyache and no feeling, cite some of these cheerful statistics when the family or neighborhood Mrs. Gamp bustles in with the best of intentions and a pint of castor oil, and if it doesn't hurt too much.

But what has all this to do with that gallsac grumble? Quite a lot.
You can scarcely realize how great a relief it is to get rid of the gallsac with such a humble, to get the appendix out of the picture before he commence operations—I mean investigation of the gallsac.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Canned Physic.

Please print my question in your column. One pound of dates, 1 pound of figs, 3 ounces of ground senna leaves, and 1 can of carrot soup, moisten. Put dates and figs through grinder and mix all ingredients thoroughly, then keep in mason jars. A teaspoonful every evening, 1 guarantee will do the trick. Many who suffer from constipation praise this. (Mrs.
G. S.)

Answer—Senna leaves are comparatively harmless, as physics do. Some persons chew the leaves, or take a dose of senna tea, or take the powdered senna in the form of compound licorice powder, for long periods without evident harm. The addition of the fruits and syrup makes a good home medicine if such medicine must be used. Seems to me that any one who can get along with such a physic ought to be able to make a declaration of independence and leave the control of the alimentary canal entirely to nature.

Good Food.

What essentials for the body are contained in bran, whole wheat and milk? (Mrs. F. A.) Answer—Whole wheat is what before the miller has removed the bran. The necessary food elements are in the bran, and the bran is restricted to these items would not adequately nourish a man alive. Wheat and milk diet is inferior to wheat and bran diet in actual nutritive elements. Unfortunately, there is little or no available evidence from nutrition experiments on human subjects.
We ought to make all state's prisoners available to the doctors for nutrition experiments. You should certainly include plenty of bread or other great products, both whole wheat and refined flour, and liberal daily rations of milk and its products, in your diet, along with reasonable quantities of fresh vegetables, fruits and meats.

FARM BOARD ASKS

CUT IN ACREAGE

the cotton belt took the form of two recommendations:

First, that farmers plant no cotton next spring until they have first provided enough for a reasonable supply of home-raised food.

Second, that no land be planted in cotton which has not produced at least one-third of a bale per acre on the average for the last four years.

"If southern farmers should raise their own food and feed," said the official statement, "and, in addition to that, should raise the food that southern people eat so far as the climate and soil will let them, there would be small danger of any cotton surplus or of an unprofitable price."

No Price Guaranty.

"Some cotton farmers think that because the federal farm board has been created to co-operatives at an average of 16 cents a pound on mid-ling 7-8 inch staple of the 1929 crop, the board means to see to it that prices will be at least that much for the crop of 1930."

"This is not so. The federal farm board cannot protect farmers when they deliberately over-plant. What the board will do to help in marketing next year's crop will depend upon what farmers do at planting time."

"These recommendations were carried out by southern farmers, who materially reduced the cotton acreage and help to remove the possibility of a cotton surplus."

The board prefaced its recommendation with the statement that "the time has come for the southern farmers to consider how much cotton they will plant next spring, and that the declaration that 'last year's acreage was too large.'"

"It was the largest planted acreage of any year in history, with the

BY SAM W. SMALL

Some Surprising Things I Learned On

A Tour Through Wisconsin.

Several years ago I made a lecture tour of the state of Wisconsin, traveling by automobile over the fine road roads initiated by the state.

The urge of the elder "Bob" La-Follette while he was the progressive governor of the commonwealth. I spoke in every county almost and in several towns in every county. I saw and heard many things that I never realized before.

LaFollette became a near demigod to the people of that state and his popularity has descended to his sons, one of whom occupies in the senate the seat that was held so long and famously by his father.

LaFollette, as governor, fought the cause of the common people.
He lifted the state out of the mud, established the agriculture of the people on profitable foundations, made the state's university the state of good government and celebrated in the nation. That was statesmanship in full flower.

No Boss, but Plenty Bossies.

Wisconsin has ceased for some time to be a boss state. It has more than 3,000,000 bosses—that is, more milk cattle than any other state in the union and more cows than she has human population.

And to the eye of the alert observer
there is not a physical reason, topographical, geographical, or climatic, why Wisconsin should own and use a cow more than the state of Georgia.

The principal reason why the Wisconsin farmers have made so phenomenal a success with dairying industries is in the gross value of farm and livestock products.

Can anyone explain why she should outrank Georgia in the respects I have described when Georgia outranks her greatly in natural advantages?

A Promising Outlook Ahead.

The J. C. Penney enterprises are
the largest value of cattle, eggs,
hogs and sheep, cash crops of potatoes, canning peas, cabbage, tobacco,
hay and fruits. Though the twenty-fifth state in area Wisconsin is fifth
in the gross value of farm and livestock products.

The house received the war department's recommendation to carry $425,231,000 for next year's expenses
of the branch—an increase of more than $400,000 over this year's cost of the branch. Hope was held out for future sessions when the military economy commission reports.

The day bore signals of plenty of work ahead in both branches. Senators and the chairman planned early beginnings on proposals for a stock market inquiry, for Philippine independence, and on the disputes over the seats of senators from Pennsylvania and Sullivan, of Wyoming.

More Appropriations.

President Hoover added to the list
of futures in the house with the submission of recommendations for $81,- 000,000 in supplemental appropriations covering a wide range of activities.

The senate delayed its tariff debate
long enough to pass the Dale bill
liberalizing the civil service retirement act, and a resolution authorizing a study of the pay of the enlisted personnel of the military service.

The death on Christmas Eve of Reverend James Leatherswood, of Utah, drew the attention of the house and it adjourned after 14 minutes as a mark of respect to its late colleague.

A while later the senate also journeyed out of respect to Mr. Leatherwood.

It did not take the senate long
to begin exchanging sharp words after the manner of the members of the house, and the exchange was warmly exchanged greetings.

Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, was taken to task when he undertook to question the motives of Senator Phipps, republican, Colorado, in objecting to consideration of a bill of the Alabama senate. After Senator Heflin said, the senate voted to pass the bill.

Grundy Doesn't Vote.

The day also brought the first opportunity for Senator Grundy to vote on the tariff bill, for which he worked so zealously before his appointment to the senate last month, and he passed it up. The vote was on wool yarns and the Pennsylvania explaining that he would not vote because he was interested as a manufacturer.

The increased tariff would be busy in conference throughout the afternoon, seeking a satisfactory solution of the forthcoming reorganization of the party machine. Chairman Mc-Nary, of the committee on committees, has called a meeting for tomorrow.

The western republican independents who have bolted the party's tariff bill are denouncing that Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, be placed on the finance committee. It seemed likely tonight that LaFollette would be given a place.

Young to Appear.

The house banking committee organized under Chairman McFadden and another meeting was called for Wednesday when Governor Young, of the federal reserve board, will be questioned about legislation.

Chairman Norbeck, of the senate banking committee, announced that he would call a meeting probably for Wednesday or Thursday, when the resolution of Senator King, democrat, Utah, for a senate inquiry into the stock markets and the banking industry will be considered.

Chairman Coughlin called a meeting of the senate interstate commerce committee for tomorrow to resume hearings on his bill to establish a federal communications commission.
Representatives of the telephone industry will be heard.

STUDENT KILLS

SELF WITH GUN

WASHINGTON, N. C., Jan. 6.— (AP) George W. Kugler, 16, son of Frank C. Kugler, highway commissioner for the first district, killed himself with a shotgun in the back yard of his home here last night.

Friends of the young man said he had not been in the best of health recently.

Kugler tied a string to the trigger of the gun, which he pulled after placing the barrel against his head.

Young Kugler was an honor student at the Darlington school, Rome, Ga., and was to have returned there today after spending the holidays here with his parents.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 6.—(AP)

One of three big blimp planes in the search for the missing arctic, Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, still lost in the northern wastes, still night. The plane carried Pilot Pat Reid and Mechanics William Hughes and Jim Henthison.

The missing plane carried a plentiful supply of provisions and was was felt for the three missing men.
It was hoped they had been able to land their plane safely.

Pilot Eielson and his mechanic, Borland, vanished last November 9, while flying to the ice-bound fur trading ship, Nanuk, near North Cape.

After a fruitless search over 200 miles between Nome and Umanak yesterday, Pilot Frank Durband was reported from Nome to have expressed the belief that Reid either over-shot the ice and landed on the ice or was ice out in Norway bay, or returned to the Yukon river.

Durband was forced down by fog after reaching Solomon, 36 miles from Nome, in a message to the fired, Fred Lomon, director of rescue operations in Nome, the pilot said there was perfect visibility from the mouth of the Koyuk river to Umanak.

The Butter on Our Bread.

Do you know, gentle Georgia dub, producing an annual average of 150, 000,000 pounds of butter and that a tremendously large share of the bread we daily eat in Georgia is buttered with some of that "Wisconsin gullen-grease?"

Wisconsin also sends out thousands of carloads of condensed cream and wholesome milk to the states of Oregon, California, and Arizona, and to Chicago's millions of people in addition to those living in Wisconsin cities.

In addition the Badger people produce large values of poultry, eggs,
hogs and sheep, cash crops of potatoes, canning peas, cabbage, tobacco,
hay and fruits. Though the twenty-fifth state in area Wisconsin is fifth
in the gross value of farm and livestock products.

Can anyone explain why she should outrank Georgia in the respects I have described when Georgia outranks
her greatly in natural advantages?

A Promising Outlook Ahead.

The J. C. Penney enterprises are
the largest value of cattle, eggs,
hogs and sheep, cash crops of potatoes, canning peas, cabbage, tobacco,
hay and fruits. Though the twenty-fifth state in area Wisconsin is fifth
in the gross value of farm and livestock products.

The house received the war department's recommendation to carry $425,231,000 for next year's expenses
of the branch—an increase of more than $400,000 over this year's cost of the branch. Hope was held out for future sessions when the military economy commission reports.

The day bore signals of plenty of work ahead in both branches. Senators and the chairman planned early beginnings on proposals for a stock
market inquiry, for Philippine independence, and on the disputes over
the seats of senators from Pennsylvania and Sullivan, of Wyoming.

More Appropriations.

President Hoover added to the list
of futures in the house with the submission of recommendations for $81,- 000,000 in supplemental appropriations
covering a wide range of activities.

The senate delayed its tariff debate
long enough to pass the Dale bill
liberalizing the civil service retirement act, and a resolution authorizing a study of the pay of the enlisted personnel of the military service.

The death on Christmas Eve of Reverend James Leatherswood, of Utah,
drew the attention of the house and
it adjourned after 14 minutes as a mark of respect to its late colleague.

A while later the senate also journeyed out of respect to Mr. Leatherwood.

It did not take the senate long
to begin exchanging sharp words after the manner of the members of the house, and the exchange was warmly
exchanged greetings.

Supreme Court Will Decide Right of World War Vets To Renew Lapsed Policies

Announces Docketing of Appeal From Colorado. Reverses State Death Tax on Non-Resident Bond Owner.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—With Chief Justice Taft absent because of his physical condition, the supreme court had a busy time today after a four-week recess—delivering 21 opinions and announcing other important decisions.

The date for argument on the Chicago sanitary district lake diversion report, as returned by Charles Evans Hughes, the special master, was set for February 21. The court also granted one petition for review and refused six, in addition to issuing numerous orders in disputes between states. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes presided.

Among the more important decisions were those dealing with street car fares in Baltimore and with the tax which states may place on telephone companies doing an interstate business. In the street car case, the court set aside a decision of the state of Maryland which held that a fair return upon such property was not capable of exact mathematical demonstration, the tribunal held that present value of such property must be made the basis for rate making and that such corporations were also entitled to have present value applied in calculating depreciation. The case was sent back with instructions for further proceedings in the lower courts, but the decision was a broad victory for the company, which was asking a straight 10-cent car fare.

In the telephone case the court decided that New Jersey had no right to impose a tax on the gross receipts of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, because a part of them came from interstate business, which was exempt from state taxation.

One of the most important decisions came in a case from Missouri. In it the court overruled its previous decisions and held that intangible as well as tangible property left by deceased persons could be taxed only in the state where the owner was domiciled at the time of death.

Henry R. Taylor died in New York owning bonds issued by Minnesota and the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis. Minnesota imposed its inheritance tax on the bonds, but the court set the tax aside, holding that the bonds could only be taxed in New York, where Taylor lived at the time of his death.

World War veterans were interested in a case which the court consented to review. It announced that it would decide the right of such veterans, in a case brought from Colorado by Robert G. Meadows to have lapsed insurance reinstated. The government had insisted that the decision of the director of the veterans bureau was final in such matters, and that the courts were without jurisdiction.

The court permitted the International Shoe Company of St. Louis to acquire control of the W. H. McElwain Company of Boston, notwithstanding the opposition of the federal trade commission. It also sustained a New York law under which an abandoned wife was permitted to attach back dividends during years when net earnings had been applied to betterments.

Preferred A stockholders of the Wabash railroad were unsuccessful in their attempts to compel the payment of back dividends during years when net earnings had been applied to betterments.

Grand-Daughter of Napoleon Found Living in Tiny Cottage

Only Direct Descendant of Corsican Is Retired School Teacher

PARIS, Jan. 6.—(United News.)

The granddaughter of Napoleon Bonaparte, first emperor of France, has been discovered living in a tiny cottage, squeezed in among factories and truck gardens, in a suburb of Paris. She is Madame Mesnard Leon, a retired school-teacher, credited with being the only direct living descendant of the famous Corsican.

All Bonaparte princes alive today are descended from Napoleon's brothers, Madame Leon is a direct descendant of Napoleon's only daughter, the celebrated Countess Leon, who was born in Paris December 13, 1806, the son of the Emperor Napoleon and Eleanor De La Plaigne, a lady of the imperial court.

"The news of my father's birth was received by Napoleon at Pultusk, Poland, when he was preparing the campaign that culminated in the victory of Friedland," said Madame Leon in a press interview. "Napoleon was already thinking of divorcing the childless Empress Josephine, so you can imagine what consequences the news of my father's birth might have had."

"But what could Napoleon do? Nothing. Marriage with my grandmother was out of the question on account of the political situation at that time and the wars abroad. The whites of France might have been threatened."

She then related that Napoleon

Harvard Head Favors Young Entrance Age

CONDEMNED WOMAN TO BE SUED FOR $9,000

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 6.—(AP)—A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, in his annual report to the overseers made public today, advocated an earlier entrance age for college students, less emphasis on the scientific of intercollegiate sport and the abandonment of the degree of master of arts.

The question of entrance ages was mentioned in connection with a former movement to reduce the college course from four to three years, partly because of the increase in age at which men enter college. He attached a tabulation showing that the average entrance age has declined in the last 40 years to 18 years and five months.

"In spite of recurrent appeals, official and private," the report said, "in spite of statistical studies proving that those who enter young are superior in both behavior and scholarship, some parents still persist in holding their boys back, or keeping them out of college a year after they are prepared, under the illusion that they will get more out of college if more mature."

The report, referring to athletics, pointed out that two diverse tendencies have been at work in athletics; that within the university there has been an enlarging effort for universal physical training, but that outside the university there has been a tendency to place still greater emphasis on the importance and significance of intercollegiate sport.

DRAMATIST DIES
Sven Lange, Author of "Samson and Delilah," Passes.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Sven Lange, 62, Danish dramatist, died here today. He wrote and produced numerous works, of which "Samson and Delilah," Denmark was "Samson and Delilah."

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Jules W. Arnold, better known as Nicky Arnstein, whose marriage last October in Quebec to a wealthy Chicago woman was learned today, is now at liberty without bond for the first time in more than ten years.

The $25,000 bond under which he has been at liberty while still under indictment in connection with the theft of $5,000,000 worth of securities October 1, 1919, was discharged today by Judge Morris Koenig in general sessions court.

Under the rules of criminal procedure, Arnold may now move within the next two months for dismissal of the indictment. The bond was discharged on recommendations of the district attorney.

Arnold was convicted in Washington May 4, 1921, of bringing stolen property into the city, served two years in Leavenworth prison, and paid a fine of $10,000.

In March, 1920, while he was under indictment in Washington, he was indicted on charges of having stolen the $5,000,000 worth of securities and of having received stolen goods in connection with their theft, and it was for this indictment that the $25,000 bond has been held all these years.

James G. Wallace, assistant district attorney, told the court today there was not enough evidence to bring him to trial.

Earlier today it was learned that Arnold, formerly husband of Fanny Brice, was married October 18, in Quebec, to Mrs. Isabelle McCullough, said to be wealthy, and that they are now living in the fashionable Sutton Place district, among whose most prominent residents are Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

PRINCE VISITS DECK, MINGLES FREELY WITH PASSENGERS
S. S. KENILWORTH CASTLE, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, traveling to South Africa for a hunting trip, came on deck today for his first lounge since leaving Southampton. Calm and sunny weather which succeeded the violent storms that have buffeted the ship since she entered the Bay of Biscay.

The prince mingled freely with the other first-class passengers and watched the deck games with amusement. His highness looked very fit and seemed to have recovered from his malaria inoculation. He is swimming with anticipation the ship's first call at land tomorrow, when he will go ashore and lunch in the Island of Madeira.

MINING MACHINERY WILL BE REMOVED TO FORD MUSEUM
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Plans for immediate removal of the old machinery from the Vaucluse gold mine in Orange county, Virginia, to the Museum of American Industry, in Dearborn, Mich., were announced here today by Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer. He was undecided, he said, about developing the ancient mine properties, which he acquired recently.

Ford and a party of engineers inspected the mine today, returning this afternoon to Washington.

Costa Rican Position Given to Eberhardt

Kansan Succeeds Schoenfeld in Latin-American Ministership.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Shortly after receiving the resignation of H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld as minister to Costa Rica, President Hoover today nominated Charles C. Eberhardt, of Salina, Kan., as his successor.

Schoenfeld, who plans to enter business in New York, was appointed to the Costa Rican post only a month ago. Eberhardt was formerly minister to Nicaragua.

The state department announced Schoenfeld's decision "with extreme regret," and expressed hope that he would re-enter the diplomatic service at some later time.

By his resignation Schoenfeld established the unique record of twice having been appointed a minister, but never having served. He was named minister to Bulgaria after 17 years in the foreign service by President Coolidge, but before he could take over this post he was called to Washington to assist Brigadier General Frank R. McCoy with the Paraguayan-Bolivian commission of inquiry and conciliation.

In going to Costa Rica, Eberhardt will continue a diplomatic service which began in 1902.

Matthew E. Hanna, former first secretary of the legation in Nicaragua, was appointed minister in Eberhardt's stead at the same time that President Hoover selected Schoenfeld for the Costa Rican post.

Anderson, Macon attorney, was appointed today by Judge Walter C. Stevens, of the fifth circuit court of appeals, as permanent administrator of the estate of Samuel Wright, overseer, who died under alleged mysterious circumstances 11 years ago while in the employ of Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Powers, 71, condemned murderess.

The appointment will be followed within the next few days by an action against Mrs. Powers, temporary administrator of Wright's estate, and Lee H. Tharpe, her son-in-law and bondsman, to recover for Mrs. John Coder, formerly Mrs. Wright, $9,000 insurance money collected by the condemned woman.

Mrs. Powers was arrested last May and convicted in October, for participation in the murder of James A. Parks, 18-year-old orphan printer. The murder is alleged to have been committed by Earl Manchester, also condemned.

R. Douglas Feagin, Manchester's leading counsel, representing Mrs. Coder in her effort to collect the insurance money of her late husband. When Wright died in December, 1918, a $9,000 policy, payable to his estate, has been assigned to Mrs. Powers. She, as temporary administrator, collected the money. Bond of $12,000—which guaranteed the proper administration of the estate—was signed by Mr. Tharpe. Mrs. Powers never has been discharged as temporary administrator, and the bond on which Mr. Tharpe is the guarantor is said to be still in force.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—The ideal whoopee apartment, in which as many as 18 persons can gather and sing "Button Up Your Overcoat," without disturbing Mrs. Cohen on this side, the Glanders family on the floor below and the Hoffenpeppers across the court, has been invented, devised and offered to the public at last.

It remained for the automotive industry to rig up an apartment on wheels—one that you can take out in the woods at night when you want to celebrate a birth, St. Patrick's Day, a wedding, a raise in pay or the sale of a short story.

This apartment on wheels is called a split-coach, and it is the most unique and amazing of all the thousands of items on display this week at the thirtieth annual New York auto show in the Grand Central Palace.

You hook it on the back end of your particular make of petrol baggage, in the manner of a trailer. Then you start out for the wilds of Canada, the Grand Canyon, Hollywood, Yellowstone Park or Winter Haven, Fla. When traveling, the split-coach looks like a big box of

SYNOPSIS.

John Andrew Kellogg, heir to millions, asks Barbara Thornton to marry him. She agrees, but not very graciously. When she learns that he has lost his job she scolds him and calls him a playboy. He calls on his attorney, David Craig, who tells him that he will never inherit the money his father left if he doesn't prove himself capable of managing his life in a sensible way. He tells him that, since he has lost his job after another, he will have to double five thousand dollars in thirty days or live on an income from a trust fund for the rest of his life. John Andrew telephones this thousand to turn over to Craig. He refuses and tells her he is going to Hollywood. She is furious with him and breaks the engagement. He decides to go to San Francisco and starts for California. On the train he meets Anne Ames, who is on her way to Hollywood with a letter of introduction to a movie producer. They become interested in each other. Before saying goodnight to Anne, John Andrew tells her that he will see her in Los Angeles in a few days.

INSTALMENT XXVI.
THE INSULTS FLY.

It still lacked a minute to four when Kellogg stopped his car a half block from Consolidated; no nearer parking place was available. He had come as rapidly as he could (and had a traffic tag in his pocket for failing to completely observe a boulevard stop sign, which the officer explained would cost him exactly $5, and he could send his check) and jumped from the roadster the moment he jerked the hand brake.

"You ought to look it," John Andrew heard. "Some shiek'll grab that bus to show off before his lady, young fellow."

John Andrew said, "Hello, Mr. Carey. Nobody'll steal it. . . they don't take this sort of machine."

"Look it, anyhow," and John Andrew obeyed.

"I've got something you ought to know," Carey said. "It may not amount to a thing, but—"

John Andrew saw Anne, a man—Chester—at her elbow, come through the doors of the studio. "Probably doesn't," John Andrew said, and would have moved away.

"It concerns Miss Ames," said the actor. "I see her, too; Chester won't run away with her before you get there. You see, last night we—"

"I think I'd better go," John Andrew muttered, but Carey placed his hand on John Andrew's arm.

"The higher . . . and faster . . . they go up," the actor insisted, "the harder, and the lower, they fall. Listen, old man, we ran off the first of Ames' reels last night. Her acting's fair. She's pretty. She's got a lovely voice, and it recorded perfectly on the discs. But on the film, something's happened to the sound track; when Ames speaks, it's tubby. As if she were talking through a barrel . . . perhaps the technicians'll get it rectified. They don't know a great deal about this sound stuff yet. The talkies. I thought you might give her an idea that the world'll still keep going around if she isn't in the pictures. Get me."

"You're sure about this, are you?" John Andrew asked, eyes always on the man and girl now standing near a machine at the curb.

"Heard it myself. Ames' a nice kid. Not spoiled yet. But without her voice she can't stay on top. Bits. Extra work. Dog's life; I know. You either have a voice which records well or you haven't. Don't know why. That's the first time a voice's been true on the playback discs, and then blurred on the film itself. Shouldn't, but is. Sorry, for her sake. Maybe it can be remedied; they're trying to do that now. Got the whole staff of wire workers on it. But you might drop a word to ease her fall, if it comes." He looked at John Andrew (who was looking at Chester and Anne) and said: "Nice expression. Never saw a better. Use it in one of my pictures. Don't see why you should be so enraged, however. Who wants his wife in the pictures, unless it can't be helped?"

"I really couldn't say," John Andrew answered vaguely. "Much obliged. Got to run along now."

Anne was all in brown; John Andrew hurried to see her bright, distressed eyes, her upturned chin, as he walked hurriedly toward her. He could not hear what she was saying, although her lips moved urgently; Chester's answer came to him clearly, for all the handsome man's back was to him: "Why, little Anne Ames, I could pick you up and put you in my pocket. And that's just what I'm going to do if you don't come along with me—"

"You don't say," John Andrew remarked, in a chill voice.

The actor turned. "I beg your pardon," he began.

"Not necessary," said John Andrew. "Car's down the street, Anne."

"Might I ask—"

"Ask away," Kellogg said, "the point in question is—will I answer?" He realized that Chester could do, or leave undone, a great deal to promote Anne's future as an actress; only this had prevented him from seizing Anne's arm and marching her away from the Consolidated leading man.

Anne herself had moved a pace or two to the right, and now stood beside John Andrew. "What'd you want to know?" Kellogg asked; he spoke sharply.

"Isn't it . . . customary . . . to be introduced—"

"I know Miss Ames very well," Kellogg snapped.

"But you don't know me at all."

"Hm . . . no; that's right. I don't. O, well, we can't have everything in this world." And then John Andrew calmly, having already made his wound, poured acid on it. "You're Bill Carey, aren't you?"

"You're attempting to be insulting," Chester said. "Haven't I seen you hanging around the studio? Doing bits, perhaps? Run along, like a good chap; Miss Ames and I are busy. I may be able to find a little part for you in my next picture."

"I didn't insult you at all, did I?" John Andrew said, the corners of his mouth twitching. "But let that pass. Run along, like a good chap; Miss Ames and I have an important engagement."

This time Chester's face became crimson; the waxen points of his mustache bristled. "Keep off the Consolidated lot in this future, will you?" he said thinly. "If you don't—"

"Please, sir," said John Andrew, "don't chastise me too severely."

"This approaches the idiotic," Chester broke the silence with. "I don't know who you are, sir, except that apparently you know Miss Ames. But I'll tell you this, if it will help you any: Consolidated publicity department is going to begin a campaign indicating that I—their unmarried star—have at last found the girl of my dreams."

"So you're the fellow who writes the titles on the screen," said Kellogg. "I've often wanted to meet you, Lady Goder."

Before Chester could retort, Anne said unsteadily, "That isn't going to be done, is it, Mr. Chester?"

"A million people will want to see my sweetheart," the actor answered, smiling at Anne; "you'll be made, no matter what happens."

"You go through with that plan, and I can tell you what'll happen, John Andrew remarked.

"And may I ask . . . what?"

"You'll get a good swift punch on the nose which will make you look so lovely in profile. And a 14-second count won't help you, either."

It had been an exciting, hopeful, distressing day for Kellogg; up and down he had gone; his temper did not snap, but the strings holding it frayed. "Let me read just one line of such rubbish, Apollo, and I'll take you apart to see what, if anything, makes you tick. Come along, Anne."

Anne offered her only excuse: "I told you I had a previous engagement, Mr. Chester," she half pleaded. "I'm really horribly sorry."

Chester, his face suffused, said only, "Chester, my dear, try to act, will you? I can't keep holding you up clear through the entire picture."

"Look out, Anne," said John Andrew, "in a minute he's going to stick his tongue out at you, and then I'll be forced to tell his mother on him."

Having said both too little (for his taste) and too much (for Anne's good), Kellogg now raised his hat with exaggerated courtesy, and marched the girl down the street. When they neared the Mercury, Bill Carey stepped away from the fence.

"You didn't hit him, did you?" he asked.

"No," said John Andrew. "But it isn't too late."

"Too bad you had to draw him for your first picture," the character actor told Anne. "Most of us—good looking or otherwise—are just the same as everyone else; he is the exception, and he doesn't prove anything. He's a mosquito; he may do the rest of us good—tryin' not to be like him. Hope you study a few yins in his vanity, Kellogg; that's where he's vulnerable."

"I'd rather hit him," said John Andrew.

"Bad as that, was it?"

"Didn't like my meeting Miss Ames."

Emergency Appropriation Of 61 Millions To Relieve All Bureaus Asked by Hoover

All Departments Need Cash, Survey of Bill Discloses; Postal Needs Greatest in List.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—President Hoover laid before congress today deficiency estimates calling for an immediate outlay of $61,821,000 to care for contingencies which have arisen in practically every important branch of the government.

The funds sought would supplement sums made available by the last congress for the fiscal year 1930 which amounted to $3,223,000,000, exclusive of $842,125,000 for postal revenue expenditures. The total asked by President Hoover for deficiencies was roughly by this latest request to more than $80,000,000. The first deficiency bill passed by the last congress under the Coolidge administration amounted to $97,000,000.

The estimate of $37,443,000 submitted today for the agriculture department was the largest, and contained the biggest item, calling for $1,400,000 to reimburse states for mounts expended under the federal aid road act.

$1,500,000 for Coast Guard.

Prohibition and President Hoover's survey of the country's economic condition were among the important items provided for in the estimates.

For the treasury department, the funds of the coast guard would be increased by about $1,500,000, about $500,000 of which would be spent on boats and repairs to vessels to be used in combating smugglers of liquor and other contraband. The treasury asked for 30 motor boats and 90 men to operate them on the Great Lakes in this connection.

"The situation as regards liquor smugglers on the Great Lakes," the estimate said, "calls for definite action in order to combat the activities of rum runners and the boats requested are urgently needed for this purpose."

The sum of $550,000 was asked for the coast guard academy to be built in New London, Conn.

$32,500 for I'm Alone.

Another angle of the liquor question was found in the estimate of $263,601 for the state department, $32,500 being asked to settle arbitration expenses for the claims submitted by the Canadian government on account of the sinking of the schooner I'm Alone by a coast guard boat in the Gulf of Mexico.

A special commerce department estimate of $37,835 was submitted to provide for additional personnel necessary to conduct President Hoover's survey of the nation's economic condition. Funds from this estimate would be used also to meet expenses for a survey and report upon claims against the United States Grain Corporation called for by the senate.

In the war department estimates of $7,998,906, the sum of $5,386,367 was provided to defray expenses of the pilgrimage of Gold Star Mothers and Widows to the cemeteries and battlefields of Europe where their dead are buried.

An estimate of $2,144,270 was submitted for the justice department to assist in enforcing the nation's laws and to improve conditions at federal penal institutions. Unusual demands on the bureau of investigation caused a request of $305,000 for detection and prosecution of law violators. In addition, $100,000 was asked for salaries and expenses of United States marshals, federal courts and assistant district attorneys.

More than $500,000 was asked for the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.; $152,341 for the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.; $324,000 for McNeil Island, Wash., and $68,724 for the woman's prison at Alderson, West Virginia.

In the estimate of $6,469,847 for the commerce department, the sum of $5,740,000 was set aside for the 1930 census, the appropriation of $19,000,000 for the current year having been held to be insufficient to meet expenses.

This request also carried an item of $185,000 to aid the department in carrying on its regulation of commercial aircraft and aviation.

The treasury estimate also asked $198,000 for the customs collector and $500,000 for the federal farm loan board.

The navy department estimate of $1,977,702 set aside $1,000,000 to provide for the outfitting of submarines with safety devices and for rescue and salvage equipment.

In the war department estimates, $55,000 would be made available for the settlement of war claims under the act of March, 1928, which provided for disposition of claims of American nationals against Germany, Austria and Hungary, and of nationals of those countries against the United States.

$416,686 for Unknown Soldier.

Expense of construction of approaches to the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington National cemetery were provided in the same estimate to the extent of $416,686.

Of the $256,475 deficiency recommendation for the postoffice department, $325,000 would be used to meet expenses incurred in the special delivery service, carriers having been authorized increased fees by the last congress.

The interior department estimate of $903,824 included $175,000 for investigations to be made of the Gila river in New Mexico, the Pecos river in Texas, the Great Salt Lake basin in Utah and the Colorado river basin and all-American canal. It also asked for $180,000 for emergency fire fighting funds on the public domain and $171,000 for fire fighting purposes in national parks.

In the second interior department estimate, the sum of $482,614 was requested for the bureau of Indian affairs. Of this $160,746 is for settlement of claims of Shawnee Indians of Oklahoma and the remainder for supervision of mining operations on Indian land and to meet various emergencies.

The growing problem of immigration regulation caused the labor department to ask for an appropriation of $634,250. The sum of $350,000 is for regulating immigration and $131,250 for the bureau of naturalization.

The other three estimates were $550,000 for the District of Columbia; $66,325 for the capitol architect, and $34,000 for the United States botanical gardens.

AMERICAN DIPLOMAT ENDS RUSSIAN TOUR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—The state department's first close-up observation of soviet Russia ended with the receipt from Charles C. Hart of his cablegram by the in Tehran, Persia, saying merely, "Arrived here."

Hart traveled from Albania through soviet Russia to Persia to reach his new post in Persia. He is the first American diplomat to enter Moscow's domain since diplomatic relations were severed by Lenin's newborn communistic state.

He was born in Bryant, Ind. The fact that an American diplomat chose to spend some time in a state with which the United States refuses diplomatic contact is not interpreted here to signify more than that the state department is interested in what soviet Russia looks like from the inside. Hart traveled with the knowledge and consent of Secretary Stimson but the suggestion that he obtain soviet Russian visas came from outside the department.

Informed persons do not consider Hart's brief presence in soviet Russia indicative of early recognition by the government. So far as can be ascertained, pressure of other business has prevented President Hoover and Stimson from extended study of the soviet Russian problem. There are, however, indications it will be considered more in the light of economics than of politics when attention finally is directed to it here.

Hart was laconic in announcing his arrival in Persia but subsequent dispatches probably will not omit illuminating information regarding the experiment in communistic government.

Hart is a former reporter, editor and newspaper publisher. He abandoned journalism for diplomacy in 1922 when President Coolidge offered him the ministership to Albania.

PEACHES BROWNING TO GET $189,000 BY COURT ORDER

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances "Peaches" Browning today concurred in a motion presented in supreme court by Edward W. Browning, her husband, whereby she can collect $188,999.99 from his holdings as her dower right.

The motion asks that Browning be permitted to sell four apartment houses and Mrs. Browning's dower right, one-third, be impressed upon the property.

The motion also asks the court's approval of a report made by Philip J. Sinnott, special referee, which fixed the value of the property and the amount of Mrs. Browning's interest in it.

In her testimony before the referee Mrs. Browning said all the property she owns now is worth $15,500 and that her income is $1,012.50 a year. She said she had debts of $7,800. She and Browning, married in 1926, became legally separated subsequently.

FLORIDA GREEK COLONY CELEBRATES EPIPHANY

Tarpon Springs Community Observes Ancient Ceremony.

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Amid solemn and impressive ceremonies thousands of Greeks in this quaint but thriving sponge fishing center today observed their epiphany or cross day with a brilliant and colorful festival as a manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles.

From all parts of the state and various sections of the country the Greeks flocked here to attend the ceremonies held each year on the twelfth day after Christmas in honor of the three magi or wise men. The custom originated in Greece in 813 and has been handed down through generations. It first was established in this village 27 years ago.

Beginning with a four-hour church service this morning, which was followed by a colorful parade through the city, the ceremonies ended at Spring Bayou with the blessing by Archbishop Hadjioannou, Alexander of a Greek sponge diver, who recovered a golden cross thrown into the bayou. The ceremonies at the bayou ended in disappointment to the diver and church officials, when the cross was lost in the water, the first time such an incident has happened in the 27 years that the services have been held.

Ierotheos Athanasios, a swarthy sponge fisherman, who has recovered the cross from the water four times in the past five years, came to the surface with the cross today after only a few seconds of diving but lost it again. Repeated efforts of Athanasios and three other divers to rescue the cross failed. The loss of the cross, however, did not interfere with continuation of the ceremonies, which were staged on a flag draped concrete dock at the water's edge.

Emerging from the water, Athanasios knelt before the church dignitaries in his dripping bathing suit and received a blessing from the archbishop and a prayer for his safe return from his trips at sea while carrying on the dangerous profession of groping the ocean bed in search of sponge.

The entire ceremonies lasted about six hours. They were conducted by Archbishop Alexander, the Rev. Thomas D. Lacey, of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, Brooklyn, and the Rev. Theophilos Karapaphis, pastor of the local Greek church.

Comprising the parade, which started at the church and ended at the bayou, was a band, the church officials, members of the Greek Ahepa and Halki societies garbed in gaudy costumes and carrying the flags of the church, scores of school children and adult members of the church. The program ends tonight with a dance at the municipal pier.

C. C. EBERHARDT NAMED ENVOY TO COSTA RICA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Charles C. Eberhardt, of Kansas, former minister to Nicaragua, today was nominated as minister to Costa Rica, following the announcement that Arthur Schoenfeld, only recently named to the Costa Rican post, had resigned.

Undersecretary Cotton in announcing Schoenfeld's resignation said it was accepted with regret and that it was hoped he would again enter the diplomatic service. It was said Mr. Schoenfeld planned to enter business.

Eberhardt served as minister to Nicaragua from March, 1925, to December 16, 1929. He began his lengthy career in the diplomatic and consular service in 1904 when he became deputy consul general at Mexico City. Since that time he has been almost exclusively assigned to Latin American countries except for a period of years spent in an executive capacity in the foreign service offices in Washington.

TWO ARE KILLED, TWO FLOAT DOWN AS PLANES COLLIDE

GALVESTON, Texas, Jan. 6.—(AP)—An airplane collision near here today cost the lives of Lieutenant Clarence C. Mitchell, 25, and Sergeant Julius T. Bihani, 32, of the third attack group, Fort Crockett. Their plane collided with another army ship piloted by Lieutenant William C. Mills at an altitude of 1,500 feet.

Both Mills and his passenger, Sergeant Lindsay Braxton, took to their parachutes and landed safely.

Lieutenant Mitchell, whose home is in San Jose, Cal., and Bihani, who enlisted from New York city, crashed to the ground with their ship. Fort Crockett authorities are making an investigation.

SENATOR GEORGE'S BANK MEASURE PASSES SENATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The George bill authorizing receivers of national banking associations to compromise individual shareholders' liability either before or after judgment was passed today by the senate and sent to the house.

Senator George, democrat, Georgia, author of the proposal, said it would expedite the liquidation of national banks that have failed. Under existing law, he said, shareholders' liability may be compromised only after judgment.

Specified Freight Rates in Export Held Preferential

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Rates on specified commodities in export, import and coastwise movement between points on the Texas and Pacific Railway and the Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company of Texas and Galveston and other Texas ports taking the same rate were held today by the interstate commerce commission to be unduly preferential to New Orleans.

The ruling affects carload movements of grain and grain products, asphalt, cotton bales, bagging, cotton bales, ties, green coffee, cotton factory products, cottonseed and peanut cake, meal and oil, packing house products, and related products except soap, and turpentine.

A new schedule of rates was prescribed by the commission which it held would remove the undue prejudice. Rates on green coffee in carloads from New Orleans to Waco also were held unduly prejudicial by the commission and a new relationship prescribed.

Tortured Dog Row Waxes Furious at Saint Louis

WOMAN DENIES HAVING SEWED UP MOUTH

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Gladys Cozart, 48, came forward today and made affidavit that she is the woman who called at the clinic of the Humane Society of Missouri December 24 and told Robert F. Sellar, executive secretary, that there was "a sick dog in the alley behind the Mullanphy hospital."

Dr. Robert Emmet Kane, a chief surgeon at the hospital and former president of the St. Louis Medical Society, reiterated his doubts, however, that the dog's mouth had been sewed as Sellar reported. Last Friday, after Dr. Kane had asserted it was a "mythical dog" Sellar had described, the humane society offered a $500 reward to Sellar's unidentified informant if he would come forward.

The case had attracted nation-wide attention and rewards totaling more than $3,000 had been posted for capture of the dog's alleged mutilator.

Mrs. Cozart explained her tardiness in appearing by the statement that she left the city a day or two after Christmas.

Shortly before Mrs. Cozart's affidavit was made public, Douglas W. Robert, attorney for the society, announced he had the statement of a young man who saw a sick dog near the hospital December 24.

Neither Mrs. Cozart nor the young man, who asked that his name be withheld, noticed that the dog's mouth was sewed shut or that it was otherwise mutilated. Sellar had stated he did not notice the stitches until he attempted to open the animal's mouth. He killed the dog to put it out of its agony, he reported, and threw the body on a city garbage dump.

Mrs. Cozart's statement was made in the presence of Sellar and Sydney H. Coleman, president of the American Humane Society, who arrived here last night, and expressed complete confidence in Sellar's integrity. Robert said she would be paid the reward, although she had not mentioned it.

Dr. Kane, in sticking to his doubts, said he was not interested in sick dogs as there were many of them.

"First, what could be the motive?" he asked. "Second, a dog in the gangrenous condition could not have run up and down the street as that dog was said to do. Third, why should a woman driving past see the dog when others walking did not see it?"

"According to the story, the dog was in that state for several days and nobody saw it. The neighborhood is full of children. Anybody who knows anything about dogs knows that they seek help when they are in distress."

"That dog would never have stopped fighting. It would have torn out those stitches, no matter how great the pain. Dogs have been known to gnaw off an injured leg. If that dog's mouth was closed long enough for gangrene to reach the stage described, it had gone without food, water or sleep beyond any dog's endurance."

Sewing a dog's mouth would not be a one-man job. Without anesthetic, the dog would fight, howl and bite, and the task would require a special needle possessed only by a limited number of people."

CASE OF NEGRO SLAYER IS PASSED 'TIL WEDNESDAY

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The case of Theodore Harris, 23, negro confessed slayer of three, was passed until Wednesday, January 15, in criminal court here today, after a change of venue requested by the defense had been denied.

Defense attorneys announced in court that when the case is called next week they would introduce witnesses who would testify that Harris' mother, an uncle and a brother all suffered mental disorders before they died. Insanity will be Harris' defense.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

COUNTIES SEEK FUNDS FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES

Governor Hardman Receives Requests To Use Increased Borrowing Power.

Several requests are before Governor L. G. Hardman to utilize his increased borrowing power for educational purposes, made possible through the repayment of loans, to extend immediate aid to the counties, it was learned from a source close to the governor Monday.

The state cleared its educational loan of 1928 shortly before the new year, and paid a loan of $1,104,000, obtained from New York bankers. It entered the new year with a loan of $1,500,000 from Atlanta bankers, due January 15, and one of $472,000, due February 28, outstanding for educational purposes.

The letters received by the governor, it was said, urge him to borrow the $1,500,000 margin between the amount of the present indebtedness and the constitutional limit of $3,500,000 placed on obligations made for educational purposes.

A number of letters also have been received by Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of education, from all sections of the state urging that the state borrow additional money for the aid of the counties. Conditions in several of the counties are so distressing, with the ingenuity of the county educational authorities taxed to find means for keeping the schools open.

A. Henry Nordhausen Exhibit Reflects Best in American Art

Wide interest is being shown in the exhibition of 50 paintings and studies of A. Henry Nordhausen, one of the most successful of America's younger artists, whose work is on view in the auditorium gallery of the High Museum of Art. The exhibition will be shown throughout the month of January. Mr. Nordhausen, who is in the city in the interest of his work, expects to do a number of portraits for prominent Atlantans while here. His work has been shown not only in America but in many of the outstanding galleries of Europe.

Mr. Nordhausen's exhibit includes portraits, landscapes, still life studies and figures, which reveal the versatility of the artist in handling oils, water colors, crayon and etchings. A number of portraits of men and children, for which Mr. Nordhausen has acquired a reputation, are being shown. These paintings reflect vigor, ease, spontaneity, and a breadth of handling which is unusual in the American school.

The exhibit demonstrates the artist's ability to handle not only many mediums but many subjects, each being an unmistakable expression of the will to interpret. The paintings reflect vigor, ease, spontaneity, and a breadth of handling which is unusual in the American school.

This young artist's work embodies the broad handling and brilliancy of the modern school as well as the accuracy of drawing which characterizes the old. Among the outstanding oil paintings on view are:

TUESDAY - FASHION DAY AT RICH'S

Blue Notes

Tuesday Fashion Day at Rich's forecasts a Blue Spring and strikes three dominant notes that will carry the melody of color throughout the season. A deeply resonant note to resound in suave suits and tailored frocks; a tinkling, staccato note to flash in and out of sunny afternoons; a dulcet, limpid note for the star-strung evenings of Spring.

Mistral Blue

a blue as deep as a well . . . as shining as eyes lightened by glints of laughter . . . as fresh and strong as the Mediterranean wind whose name it bears. A true-blue, lighter than navy . . . for those pseudo-serious affairs of travel, shopping or luncheon.

Rouen Blue

Rouen

blue with the mellowness of stained glass windows in ageless cathedrals . . . with the bright sparkle of lakes dancing in the sun. A capricious, flirtatious, provocative color born to adorn life's lighter moments.

Angel Blue

for all the world like bits of Summer sky peeping between puffy white clouds . . . like the round and guileless eyes of china dolls . . . like all the celestial blues you've ever dreamed about. Look Lovely Tonight

Sallow, Dingy Skin made Lovely—Coarse Pores become Fine—Stops oily skin, removes blackheads.

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that creamed Magnesia beautifies the skin instantly, in the same way that milk of Magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of Magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with creamed Magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture. Being astringent, it drives away the telltale signs of age, rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely tonight, years younger.

And because it is so mild, it certainly is a blessing for fine, sensitive skin that soon so easily irritates and boresens.

It removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than soap or cold cream. It changes sallow, yellow skin to radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons.

Cremaed Magnesia clears the skin in the same easy way that milk of Magnesia purifies the stomach. Test it on those clogged nose pores that stand out so boldly. Let it lighten skin that soon so easily irritates and boresens. It will also keep your hands soft and white. To get genuine cremaed Magnesia, ask your druggist for Denton's Facial Magnesia. Remember, five minutes works wonders. So, get your Magnesia today and look lovely tonight.

GUARANTEE
It's impossible for Denton's Facial Magnesia not to improve your complexion. But, should it fail to do so, you may return the product for a full refund of your money at once without question.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

THE TRAP IS SPRUNG.
By Thornton W. Burgess.
Be sure you never laugh too soon. Or shortly you may change your tune. Farmer Brown's Boy.

Now that Farmer Brown's Boy knew Chatterer the Red Squirrel was visiting the corner, he felt sure that he would be able to catch him. So he had set a box trap baited with nuts. "I don't want to hurt that little rascal," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "I certainly wouldn't kill him for a great deal. That's why I am setting a box trap. It will hold him a prisoner, and not hurt him at all. I still don't see how the rascal got in there. Catching him won't explain that."

It was late in the afternoon that Farmer Brown's Boy set the trap. Of course, he didn't expect to find it sprung before morning. He felt quite sure, however, that Chatterer wouldn't be able to resist those nuts. As he closed the corner and went back to the house for supper, he was sure that in the morning when he opened that corner he would find the box-trap sprung and Chatterer in it.

Now Chatterer the Red Squirrel is one of the smartest of all the little people in the Green Forest. Yes, sir, he is so. That small head of his is full of the smartest ideas. He knew that if Farmer Brown's Boy had seen him there in the corner, Farmer Brown's Boy would certainly try to do something about it.

"He'll probably set a trap for me," thought Chatterer. "I saw those traps he set for mice and kept out of them. He'll probably set a different kind of trap for me. I shall have to watch out for anything strange here."

So it was that Chatterer the next morning discovered almost at once that the box-trap that Farmer Brown's Boy had set for him. He chuckled when he saw it. He had seen traps like that before. He knew all about traps of that kind. He knew that if he went in to see what might be inside.

"Nuts!" exclaimed Chatterer. "My, how good they smell! Farmer Brown's Boy has even opened some of them for me. I certainly do like nuts. But he can't tempt me with nuts. I've got several storehouses full of them. When I want nuts I can get them. I came over here after corn. I want corn I don't want nuts. I wonder what that thing is sticking out from the back of this trap. It can't do any harm to touch it. Nothing can happen so long as I am outside the trap."

So Chatterer reached out and touched the little stick, and when he did the door of the trap dropped with a thump. It startled Chatterer so that he ran. He ran and disappeared in the great pile of corn. But a moment later he was peeping out again. There stood the trap with the door closed. He knew then that he had closed that trap by touching that little stick at the back. Chatterer chuckled.

"Now I know what to do with that kind of a trap," thought he. "I wonder what Farmer Brown's Boy will say when he finds that door closed and nothing inside."

Chatterer was hidden where he could watch Farmer Brown's Boy when he came in the corner. He saw the good-natured grin that spread over the freckled face of Farmer Brown's Boy as the latter saw that the trap was sprung. He chuckled down inside, did Chatterer.

"Well," said Farmer Brown's Boy, talking to the squirrel he supposed was inside the trap. "It didn't take long to get you, did it? I didn't think it would. I'll go get a cage now and we'll have a look at you."

So Farmer Brown's Boy brought in a cage and then very carefully opened the trap at the door of the cage, so that whoever was in the trap would run into the cage. No one ran in. You should have seen the funny look on the face of Farmer Brown's Boy when he discovered that that trap had no one in it. Chatterer saw that look and then chuckled. But it was a silent chuckle.

Mrs. Alfred Bailey, the former president of the league, whose term ended this month, will serve as publicity chairman for the organization. In making a resume of the activities of the league under her administration, Mrs. Bailey said:

"The biggest accomplishments of the Atlanta League of Women Voters are not noisy nor spectacular. The achievements of its 10 years of life are quiet and unobtrusive, but particularly effective in the light of its harshness and its misunderstood position in the public mind. Generally thought of as merely another political organization and seldom as the far-reaching educational institution for men as well as women that it is, the League of Women Voters has gone a long way toward overcoming the prejudice against it, due to its false position.

"The league has always stood for a modern, efficient form of government for the city, county and state. We feel that we can accomplish through political education, that is, through knowledge of the science of government and training. The league is a school for these things, and we are very certain. We have won a reputation for integrity of purpose and pure motive; we are gathering influence each year, and we are gaining more and more respect of the community and confidence of our officials. To me, these are real, tangible achievements. My greatest wish for the club league is that it will continue to grow in the esteem of the public mind, and that its wonderful potentialities will be recognized and used as should be."

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs but a few cents, but it gives relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugstore, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Overseas League Meets With Mrs. Inman And Studies Briand's European Union

Peter Poroboffskoff, former attorney-general of the Imperial Government of Russia, who is now residing in Atlanta with his niece, Mrs. Hal Davison, addressed members of the Atlanta unit, Women's Overseas Service League, at a meeting of this organization held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Samuel M. Inman on Peachtree street. This learned Russian scholar outlined in a brilliant and concise manner the meaning of Briand's United States of Europe, giving the advantages and disadvantages of such a union. The talk was the first of a series of lectures which will be given in connection with the systematic study of international problems, undertaken as a part of the unit's monthly programs.

Another interesting feature of the meeting were the reports made relative to the gifts sent at Christmas to the disabled soldiers at the Veterans' hospital at Lake City, Fla., and the disabled nurses who are patients at the Danville hospital, Danville, Ill.

Unit's History.

A letter was read from Miss Sara Bell, who is spending the winter in California, and who is a charter member of the unit and is largely responsible for its organizing. Miss Bell outlined briefly the history of the organization, the first meeting taking place at the home of Mrs. Inman in the late summer of 1919, when a group of Atlanta women, who had served as welfare workers in Europe during the World War, decided to form a permanent organization in order to continue their services to humanity. Mrs. Edward Brown, of Forest Hills, N. E., who at that time was Miss Esther Brown, of this city, and who served abroad with the American Red Cross, was elected first president at the initial meeting held at the home of Mrs. Inman. At the same time Mrs. Inman was named godmother of the organization, this prominent Atlanta matron having always shown a deep interest in the Atlanta women who rendered foreign service during the World War.

Paris Convention.

Soon after the organizing of the Atlanta unit, other groups in cities throughout the United States formed units from which the National Women's Overseas Service League was formed. The 10th annual convention of this patriotic national organization will be held the last week in May in Paris, the voyage to be made aboard the S. S. New Amsterdam, scheduled to sail from New York May 15. Several members of the Atlanta unit will be included in the passenger list and will share honors with the several hundred American women who will be lavishly entertained in Paris and will visit the scenes of former interesting experiences.

Following the meeting Saturday Mrs. Inman entertained informally at tea, at which she was assisted by Mrs. J. O. Sanders, president of the Atlanta unit.

Spiller and Dobbs Leave Today To Confer With Wilbert Robinson DEMPSEY TO REFEREE FIGHT TONIGHT

SPILLER, DOBBS LEAVE TODAY TO SEE 'ROBBY'

Twenty-Two Southern League Players Try Out in Big Time.

By Ralph McGill.

Not that it matters a great deal, but 22 Southern league players of the 1929 season will be in town today for a trial when spring comes round with rustling shade and baseball apples fill the air.

Three of them come from Atlanta. Brooklyn got all of them. One is Al Lopez, another is Bob Parham, former Tech football and baseball star. The third is Climax Blethen, the thrower. There is a mighty yearning on the part of Johnny Dobbs to get one or all of them back, particularly Al Lopez, the catcher, and Blethen, the thrower.

The meeting with Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn club, will decide this to some extent. The Cracker officials leave today for Douglas on a hunt and an investigation of the city as a training site. Your Uncle Wilbert will be with them and the trio will end up at Dover Hall, near Brunswick. Johnny Dobbs will arrive in Atlanta this morning.

LOPEZ MAY STICK.

Lopez may stick. He will aid a catching staff that was in a bad way more than once last summer. Parham is expected to need more seasoning. Still one never can tell in the baseball business.

New Orleans sent up the largest number of players to the Big Tent. Larry Gilbert has what the boys call a penchant for developing young stars. He sent a crop to Cleveland every year. This spring will find seven ex-Pelicans working for a place with the Indians. Belve Bean and Clint Brown, two right nice pitchers, will be there. Johnny Burnett, the infielder, and Zeke Bonura, the college player, who did well at first and second base in addition to being quite a hitter, are also up. So are Eddie Powers and Charlie Dorman, outfielders. They will be trying.

For some reason or other, and by what machinery no one knows, the Senators got hold of Cliff Bolton, the infielder and pitcher. Gilbert usually deals exclusively with Cleveland. They must not have thought so much of Cliff Bolton, despite the fact that he was very highly regarded about the Martin organization last summer.

The Cleveland infield and outfield, especially the latter, will be rather difficult to chisel a way into. This means that the Pelicans will get back most of their graduates for another year of dying for dear old New Orleans.

TWO CHICKS RISE.

Doe Prothro got rid of two of his regulars last fall. The Giants getting Sam Leslie, the hitting fool who played first base and pitcher, and Trippe Signum, who was with Jimmy Hamilton at Canton, gets a shot with the Phillies. He is a hitter. The Phillies will give him a very thorough trial indeed. He hit 41 home runs which will enable him to hold up his head with Chuck Klein and Frank O'Doul.

BARONS GO UP.

A couple of Johnny Dobbs' charges from over Birmingham way, will try and make it. Don Carlos Moore and Ernie Smith, pitcher and infielder respectively, will try it with the White Sox and the Senators just as respectively.

Little Rock graduated the veteran Tom Oliver. He did one of the best jobs of outlasting ever seen in the league last year. Just how he will stick with the Athletics is something else. Like as not he will be used in one of the trades which Mister Mack is now contemplating in spite of the fact you thought he knew better.

Mobile sent along Tommy Winsett to the Red Sox. Heine Wagner can use him. The Red Sox outfield was a great bargain.

Herb Pyle, a thrower, was the Lookouts lone contribution. The Senators took him for a trial.

Only a few of the boys will stick, of course, but the game has been the Southern Association supply its quota year after year. A very large number of the stars now performing were in the Southern league at one time or another. So give the boys a hand.

Christian Heads G.M.A. Gridders

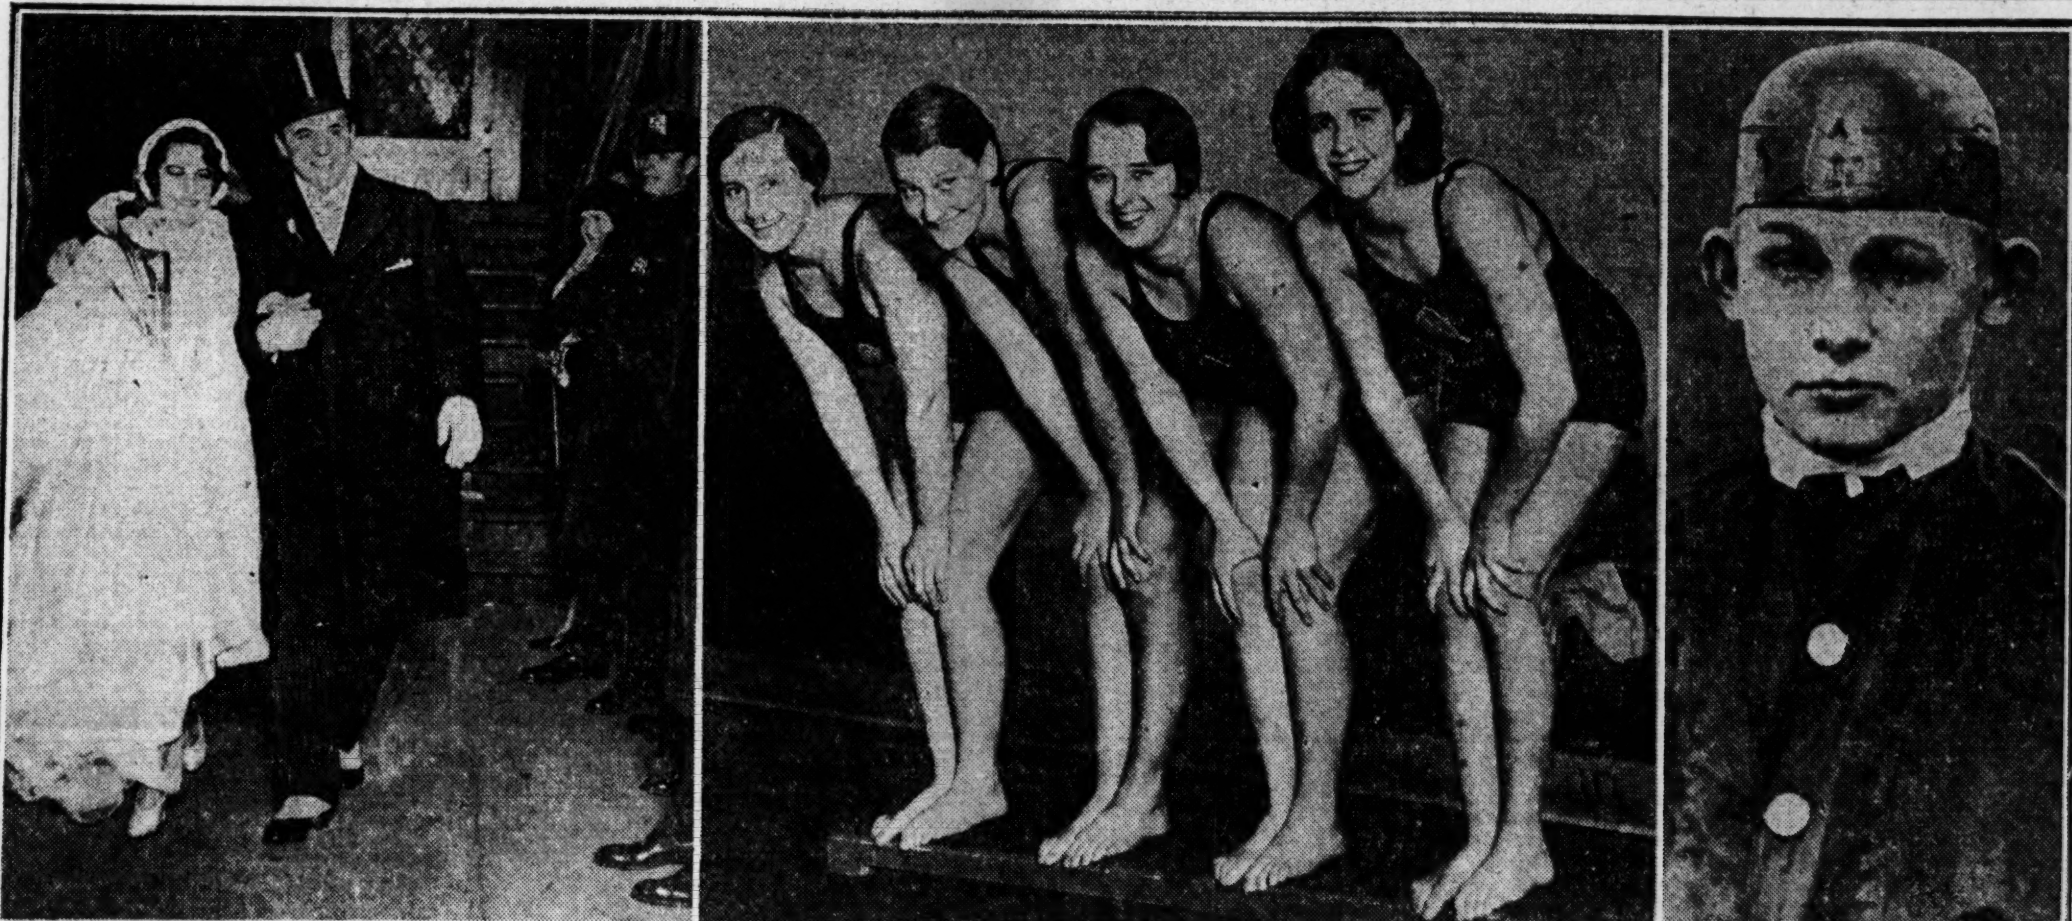

George Christian, halfback on the G. M. A. team last year, was named captain for the 1930 team at a recent meeting of the football players. Jim DeGarmo, flashy halfback, was named alternate. The 1929 G. M. A. team was coached by Captains Padgett and McQuarrie and Sam Burhage and enjoyed one of its most successful seasons.

Companies Open Play.

Company football at G. M. A. will start Thursday afternoon with two games being played on the campus. None of the varsity or scrubs on the 1929 football team will be permitted to play and varsity players are coaching the company teams.

Members of the winning team will be given a chicken dinner by the school.

Former Grid Star Weds---They'll Swim in Florida---Boots Home Four Winners

The run he is shown making, top left, probably seemed longer than any he ever made on the gridiron. It is Edgar W. Garbisch, former captain of the Army and all-American center, leaving the church with his bride, Miss Bernice Chrysler.

ler, daughter of Walter P. Chrysler. Maybe you own one of his cars. In the center are four very lovely young things who will swim in the National swimming meet to be held in Florida in March. Left to right; Dagney Van Marth, Emma Shemeitas, Isabel Smith and Mary Lou Quinn, holders of the 400-yard relay record. At the right is apprentice jockey Kenneth Russell. On January 2 he rode home four winners in six starts at the New Orleans fair grounds and brought the other two home third. He rides for H. P. Whitney.

In a store-room on the Peachtree side of the Piedmont hotel, screened by gaudy one-sheet posters and American flags, the fight committee of the American Legion is busy selling tickets to their prize fight.

The show is tonight. The show will arrive in town this morning at 9:30. The show is named Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey is not going to fight. He will referee the main event between Farmer Joe Cooper, the perennial brawler belonging to the ubiquitous "Broadway Johnny" Cox, and Ted Goodrich, Atlanta's own indomitable Ted.

THEY HAD COURAGE APLENTY.

These legionnaires certainly command respect. The spirit that won the war is back of this show. What it took to go over the rim of a trench at dawn was required in no small amounts to put this show across.

For be it known here and now that not since Young Stribling fought Billy Shade here in 1925 has a boxing show drawn a proverbial dime. Stribling drew something like $12,000 that time, and it has remained a record.

In fact it has never been in the slightest danger of being broken. It could have been shipped by ox cart over any Georgia road without being even shaken in transit.

Without having complete figures at hand, I'd say that an average gate at a boxing show for the past four years in Atlanta is something like $2,200.

CASH IN ADVANCE.

These legionnaires had staged a show or two and had drawn nothing but a big deficit. They tried ordinary ring cards and lost their shirts. They had to do something to get their money back.

Commander T. P. Hermes, Major Trammell Scott and a few others decided to shoot the works as they say at the club.

They let themselves in for approximately $6,500. Of this amount $4,000 was cash in advance to Dempsey himself.

All before the cash register had been punched once, mind you.

GIVE 'EM CREDIT.

Now they are being rewarded for their courage and their knowledge of the show business. The advance sale last night was bigger than any total boxing gate in the past four seasons.

And the final tally will be $12,000 or better, they say. The tickets are moving out in bunches. The legionnaires are grinning from ear to ear.

While crediting Jack Dempsey, the idol of America and the biggest single act the cauliflower circuit ever booked, with all the honors he deserves, do not fail to bow respectfully to the American Legion Post No. 1. They have not forgotten how to take a chance.

STIRBLING AND CARNERA.

William Morris, writing in the New York Evening Post, has an interesting interview with Charles Francis Coe about the Stribling-Carnera fight in Paris that gives an excellent estimate of these two ring figures.

Excerpts follow:

Charles Francis Coe, talented author of underworld and prize ring stories and sportsman of note, told the writer what he thought of Carnera, the heavyweight sensation of Europe. Mr. Coe has just returned from Europe where among other things he saw the Stribling-Carnera fight in Paris.

"There's never been anybody just like Carnera in the prize ring," the author said. "In perfect shape for his bout with Stribling."

SHIRES FACES DIAMOND BAN

Serious Trouble Looms If Ring Innocence Is Not Proven.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Unless Charles Arthur "The Great" Shires clears his name of charges that he engaged in one "fixed" professional boxing match and had attempted another, he may find himself barred forever from organized baseball.

The White Sox management, which has remained silent throughout the great's one invasion of the catfish flower parks, today made it clear it would not talk about a 1930 contract with the punch-slinging first baseman. Since that time the rights have been made into battle sights and a whole mess of things have been included into the curricula of our colleges.

CLEAN-UP.

"Shires must clean up those charges before the White Sox will be ready to discuss a contract with him," said Secretary Harry Grabner of the south side club. "Too, he has to settle up his suspension which resulted from his last fight with former Manager Russell Blackburn last season. I have no date with Shires and have not seen him. When the time comes, we will be ready to handle the situation."

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, has refused to discuss the Shires case beyond the information that he would have something to say if the charges against Shires were upheld by either the Michigan or Illinois state athletic commissions. However, it is known that he is none too well pleased over the affair.

READY.

Meanwhile, Shires was ready to tell his side of the story before the commissions. He is slated to appear before the Illinois commission tomorrow in an attempt to prove that his first professional match with Dan Gallagher Dan Daly, of Cleveland, was on the square. Daly said he took a "dive" for Shires because he feared he would be "taken for a ride" if he failed to yield to a demand for a "dive," which the said was made by Shires' representative.

General John V. Cline, chairman of the Illinois commission, has served Shires with a summons to appear before him tomorrow afternoon. Promoter Jim Mullen, of Chicago, who conducted the Shires-Daly match, said he would insist that Daly make the charges before the commission in person.

Shires already is under the ban of the Michigan commission on a charge that a fake fight was attempted at Detroit between him and Battling Criss. The Michigan commission, however, has granted him a rehearing at Lansing Thursday.

Georgia-Alabama Meeting Slated

CEDARTOWN, Ga., Jan. 6.—A meeting of the directors and officers of the Georgia-Alabama league will be held in Atlanta tomorrow afternoon, Wednesday, January 8. The meeting will be held for the election of league officers for 1930 and to transact all other business toward the organization of the league for this year. The Georgia-Alabama league had a very good year in 1929 and prospects for a still better year in 1930 are very bright.

Reappointed.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 6.—(United Press).—James A. Farley and William Muloon have been reappointed to the state athletic commission by Edward J. Fium, secretary of state, who made the announcement today.

Non-Payment Plan Also Fits Professors

Laborer Is Worthy of His Hire and Coaches Teach as Much or More Than Profs.

By Ralph McGill.

Some of our more serious thinkers are in favor of abolishing the paid college athletic coach, seeing therein a remedy for the so-called evils of the game.

A calm analysis of the situation as it exists today would find a great deal of evidence tending to support a plan whereby the college teachers would be put on a non-paying basis if the coach is to be so restricted. Both the coach and the professor is teaching the young idea how to shoot. It becomes a question, then, of who teaches them to shoot the straightest.

Popular tradition is behind the professor. The professor has come down to us with a haze of romance which surrounded him in the old school days when the curricula of the nation were modeled after the classic ones to be found in England.

BATTLE SIGHTS.

That was the time when the sights were just deep sights. They aimed at Latin, Greek, law, mathematics, the ministry and the profession of teaching. Since that time the sights have been made into battle sights and a whole mess of things have been included into the curricula of our colleges.

And I doubt that the average college professor is doing as much to earn his salt as the average football coach. The average college professor usually has one professor whom the boys swear by. He stands out in a throng of dehydrated thinkers and teachers. There may be as many as two in one college but rarely more. The others go along year after year in the same old way with the same old refrain, turning out a product which is as much alike mentally as so many wash tubs.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Auburn, defended the college football player at the recent conference meeting in Baton Rouge. "I find that the football player, when he gets out of college, usually makes a very good man," he said. "They are usually very fine citizens. There are some poor ones as in all groups but I think that our football players are very fine boys."

PROOF.

The doctor's statement was some proof, at least, that the football coaches are teaching the young idea they have to deal with to shoot straight. Crimes committed by college students rarely come from the ranks of the athletes. They may be dumb, as the various foundations strive to prove, but they do get enough teaching in discipline, the rights of the other fellow and the value of obeying the rules of things to struggle along in a very decent sort of fashion.

There is ample evidence, of course, to show that the professors are teaching the young idea how to get along but there is not enough of it to teach the athletic coach as a sinister figure in the college life.

WHY NOT?

There seems to be no good reason why the professor should be paid if the coach is not. The idea advanced, of course, was that the professor be paid a bit more for his teaching and be sent out to coach the athletic teams. Which is but a subterfuge.

The idea advanced some time ago that the college professor who flunks a large number of his students be fired if the football coach is to be fired for losing games, met with some response. The college professor who flunks his men has admittedly failed to interest them in their work and to teach it to them well enough for them to grasp the subject. He has failed as much as the football coach.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR GEORGIA

Sportsmen Meet Wednesday Night To Plan Conservation of Quail.

Sportsmen of Atlanta, especially those interested in hunting, plan to attend a meeting Wednesday night at the Hurt building in the Hurt office, to discuss plans for the propagation of quail in Georgia.

Out of the meeting will come a new and needed industry for Georgia. The conservation and propagation of quail is of vital importance to the sportsmen of the state and to the farmers. A group of Atlanta sportsmen, including some of the most influential citizens of this city, are already pledged to the project. A farm will be purchased near the city and on it will be started the propagation of quail and ring-necked pheasants.

The movement is being managed by C. P. Sullivan, of Atlanta. The company, which will be organized Wednesday night, plans to stock various hunting reserves of the members and also to offer for sale the birds to other sportsmen who wish to use them for conservation purposes. The business of quail propagation is a profitable one when correctly handled.

The local company plans to import an experienced game handler from New Jersey to take over the birds this winter. All sportsmen of Atlanta are urged to be present at the meeting Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Cherokee Teams Clash Tonight

When Inman Park Baptist plays Peachtree Christian the first of the four-game series in the Cherokee league sponsored by the girls' division of the Y-Church Athletic Association on the Wesley Memorial court tonight will be the hottest race of the many basketball leagues of Atlanta will be resumed after a two-week layoff.

With Peachtree Christian, Western Heights Baptist and Central Presbyterian tied for the lead, and Associate Reformed Presbyterian but one game behind, this series is sure to produce some hard-fought battles, although these clubs meet teams of the second division. Western Heights Baptist must defeat the girls from the Alpha Class to remain in the tie and the addition of several new players to the Wesley Memorial Class team will make this no easy job.

Gordon Street Baptist plays the J. O. Y. Class of Central Baptist in the third game and the latter must win to hold a first division berth. Capitol View Methodist meets Associate Reformed Presbyterian in the nighttime.

A. A. C. Loses Stephens For Next Two Weeks

Pat Stephens, forward on the Atlanta Athletic Club basketball team, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in scrimmage some time ago, has been ordered to refrain from practice for two weeks by a surgeon, it was learned Monday night. Stephens played in the opening game Saturday night when A. A. C. beat Citadel, 63 to 21, and scored 18 points.

He attended practice Monday night but was not dressed for play. Meanwhile, other members of the team engaged in a scrimmage with the Reds. A combination of Lassiter and Brewer forwards, Cy Bell at center, and McCrory and Bynum worked a greater part of the scrimmage with the reserves getting into practice toward the close.

TED GOODRICH MEETS COOPER AT AUDITORIUM

Stribling Also Will Officialize in Bout on Legion Card.

Atlanta's biggest ring event in 20 years happens tonight when Jack Dempsey referees the welterweight fight between Ted Goodrich, Atlanta favorite, and Farmer Joe Cooper, walloping agriculturist from Indiana. The first fight starts at 8:15.

Officials of the American Legion, promoting the fight and responsible for the appearance of Dempsey here, are expecting a sellout. "The town has gone crazy over this fight," said Commander T. B. Hermes. Monday afternoon, "All day the fans have been crowding into our headquarters at the Piedmont hotel, every one of them after a ringside ticket. Enthusiasm is at its highest pitch and we expect the auditorium to be packed tomorrow night."

ARRIVES AT 9:30 O'CLOCK.

Dempsey will arrive this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Peachtree station of the Southern railroad. He is coming down from New York in a private car furnished by the Southern. A group of legion officials and newspapermen will leave this morning at 5:30 and board Dempsey's car at Gainesville, returning to Atlanta with him.

Immediately upon arrival Dempsey will be paraded up Whitehall and Peachtree to his suite at the Piedmont hotel. Then he will go to city hall and pay his respects to Mayor Ragland. Following that he has a date with Young Stribling—who will referee the semi-windup—to visit the federal penitentiary and then make a flight over Atlanta. Stribling has a commission in the flying corps reserve.

At 1 o'clock Dempsey will be guest of honor at a luncheon at the Piedmont hotel tendered by 230 Atlanta businessmen, all anxious to mix and mingle with the Man Mauler, still the most popular person in pugilism and newspapermen. A trip to Stone Mountain is next and then a talk over the radio at WSB at 5:30 o'clock. The Boy Scouts have asked their hero to drop in on them at a dinner at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 7 o'clock and the Mauler will comply with this request.

LIKES PEOPLE.

The legion doesn't intend to hide its drawing card at all. It will show him to the public at every opportunity. Nor will they meet with any unwillingness from Dempsey. He likes people; likes to talk to the main and mix with them. That is the main reason why he is so popular. While the public in general is excited over Dempsey's appearance here, fighters on the splendid card arranged for tonight by "Pop" Neale, the legion's matchmaker, are feverishly awaiting tonight's program.

They all wound up their preliminary bouts last night at the Power Company's gymnasium on Edgewood avenue. Ted Goodrich, headlining the show with Joe Cooper, is striving to make a most favorable impression on the public in general and Dempsey in particular. During the past year Goodrich has been a loser toward the top of the welterweight heap.

He realizes that in Cooper he is meeting one of the toughest men in the game and that a victory will push him from a loser toward the top of the welterweight heap.

Goodrich has worked hard for this bout and his manager, L. C. Warren, said Monday that Atlantans would be surprised by the Goodrich they saw in action tonight. "We have been hard at work and we will show 'em something tonight," said Warren.

In another feature bout Pete Cole, fast-moving lightweight from Rome, claiming the southern championship, will meet Honey Boy Snipes, a brawler from Macon. Snipes put forth action when they enter the ring and a rousing battle is expected.

The spectators will see a plenty of punishment and absorb a great deal, will meet Ollie Joyner, of Birmingham, in the main preliminary. Webb fought here recently and made a favorable showing. Joyner is a

Palm Beach School Regains Its Standing

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Palm Beach High School Athletic Association, school officials announced here today.

The high school was barred from conference competition at the peak of the football season when state officials disciplined the school for using five ineligible players in two early season football games. The suspension was lifted at a conference at Avon Park yesterday, officials said.

Few Changes Will Be Made in Athletic Lineup for 1930 Race

MACK'S RESERVE STOCK BOOSTED BY NEWCOMERS

Veteran Hurlers Okay for Another Season on Firing Line.

By John H. Reiting, Associated Press Staff Writer.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5. (AP)—Connie Mack looks for a great baseball season and a stiff race in the American league. And to show the confidence in the team that won for him his fourth world's championship, he says, "I see no reason why we should not repeat."

"I want to emphasize," said the tall tutor, "that we expect a stronger competition during the 1930 season than we have had in several years. A number, if not all the teams, have added to their strength and it would be no surprise to see a wonderful race. I do not believe the Yankees played up to their usual standard last year and I look for them to come back with a wallop."

STANDING PAT.
Connie Mack is so sure of the strength of his first string men that he is virtually standing pat on the lineup that won the American league pennant and took four out of five from the Chicago Cubs in the world's series.

The catching department has been fortified in case of accident by the addition of Wally Schang, who can relieve either Mickey Cochrane or Cy Perkins in case of need.

The veteran pitching staff of Grove, Walberg, Elmke, Earnshaw, Quinn, Kinnel and Shaver will be augmented by four hopefuls from the minors. Portland sends Lee Roy Mahaffey and George Snider, burly right-handers, to the A's, while Glen Liebardi, Jr., son of the Cleveland chucker of 20 years ago, was obtained from Des Moines, and Alfred McManis, left-handed strike-out king from the semi-pro ranks of Nebraska, was picked up as a free agent.

MACK'S INFELD.
The Athletics' starting infield will be that sterling quartet of Jimmy Fox, first base; Max Bishop, second; Jack Boley, short, and Jimmy Dykes, third. Ready to jump in as substitutes in the inner garden will be James Keesey, Don McNair and Roy Tarr, who have had good experience in the minors. Keesey who was formerly with the Portland club of the Pacific coast, is a right-handed hitter and will be understudy to Jimmy Fox. McNair comes from Memphis of the Southern Association and flashed in a few games at Shibe park last fall. Tarr was bought from McCook of the Nebraska state league.

In the outer garden will be that triple threat of Al Simmons, the hefty hitter; Mule Huns, who tied the score in the ninth inning of the final world's series game with a home run, and Bing Miller who put across the winning run with a double. The second defense in the field will consist of Homer Summa, Roger Cramer, a recruit from Martinsburg of the Blue Ridge league, and Tom Oliver, drafted from the Little Rock club.

SEEKS GARDENER.
Manager Mack will try to acquire another experienced fly-chaser before the season opens.

Within a few weeks the 67-year-old leader of the Athletics will start on his yearly vacation in Florida, playing golf and fitting himself for the training period when his team reports February 22, at Fort Myers, Fla., where the A's have practiced the last six seasons.

An impressive list of spring training games has been arranged. The Athletics will visit many of the southern resorts and give winter vacationists a chance to see the world's champions in action.

There are still seats left for the fight and they can be secured at the Legion fight headquarters in the Piedmont hotel, the Candler building, 504 Broad street, and legion post headquarters, 201 Bolling Jones building. General admission tickets will be placed on sale at 9 o'clock this morning at the box office at the city auditorium. Also at the Piedmont hotel offices.

The card for tonight follows:
Goodrich vs. Cooper, 10 rounds.
Spilke Webb vs. Ollie Joyner, 10 rounds.
Honey Boy Snipes vs. Pete Cole, 8 rounds.
Jimmy Smith vs. Whit Webb, 8 rounds.
Carl Knowles vs. Jack Monahan, 4 rounds.
Two soldiers from Fort McPherson, 4 rounds.

PROFS' IDEA FITS THEM

coach who fails to teach his men how to win most of their football games.
There is plenty of room in the collegiate world for both the coach and the professor. The professors should realize that fact.

SAYS ALEX.
The most sapient statement made in years was made by Coach W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech, at the recent football banquet.
"I would have no respect for the professor who did not drop an athlete deficient in his studies," he said, "but I do object to them taking their pound of flesh simply because they do not believe in college athletics."
The college professor is not the only teacher of young men. The football coach does quite a bit of it in a most successful and admirable manner. Oh my, yes.

Clemson's New Field House Which Will Be Dedicated Tonight

DOWN the LINE by W.O. McGeehan

LO, THE GREAT INDIAN!

By a strange circumstance the greatest of all the all-around American athletes of all time was almost an aboriginal American by birth. There cannot be much dispute over the fact that Jim Thorpe, of Carlisle, was the greatest of our all-around athletes, for there was no game that he could not play well, excepting, perhaps, the game of living, which, while it is a highly important game, is not at all a test of athletic ability.

Jim Thorpe was of the Sac and Fox tribe but, as the name indicates, there was somewhere in the family tree an ancestor who came from the Kerry or the Wicklow mountains, or who developed some of the fleetness that Jim showed, through trotting over the bogs of Ireland. But the most of him was Sac and Fox.
Certainly, Jim Thorpe was a many-sided athlete. He was a member of the greatest Carlisle football team that Warner ever coached. He played baseball well enough to have lasted for a few seasons with the New York Giants. He played basketball, although he thought that this game was somewhat effeminate. In football some of the experts still hold that he was the greatest back of all time, which of course, is merely a matter of opinion.

PERFECT ATHLETE.

In the Olympic games of 1912 Jim Thorpe won the decathlon and the pentathlon, two events which test all of the athletic ability of the contestants. These events call for everything that is in a runner, speed, strength and co-ordination of mind and muscle. A decathlon man cannot get anywhere unless he has all of these qualifications. Thorpe had them all and to a superlative degree.

The winning of the decathlon and the pentathlon at Copenhagen had them all declaring that Jim Thorpe, the Sac and Fox Indian, was without doubt the greatest athlete in the world. The fact that he was a native Indian made him all the more colorful and wonderful a figure. Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, cabled long messages of congratulation. The king of Denmark lavished honors on Jim Thorpe and, of course, they beat the tom-toms and what not in the lodges of the Sac and Fox.

Thorpe took it all with the stoicism of his tribe. He was not outwardly impressed by the triumphs or the homage. In fact, they say that when the king of Denmark came out to the ship of the American athletes in the royal launch, especially to honor Thorpe, the Indian was in his bunk and refused to be disturbed. He said that he needed his natural rest.

THE KING LOST ONE.

It must be remembered that all of this happened shortly after the king of Denmark had placed a wreath over the neck of Dr. Cook, of the Gumdrops Arctic Expedition, and had tagged him with sundry decorations on the strength of his claims of having discovered the north pole. It turned out subsequently that Doc Cook had no more tagged the pole than Merkel had tagged second in a certain crucial baseball game. The king of Denmark was no little chagrined at the thought of having one put over on him.

Imagine, then, the added chagrin of the king of Denmark, when, after the return of the American Olympic team of 1912, it was discovered that Jim Thorpe, the hero, had committed several and sundry acts of professionalism and that he was not eligible to receive the gifts of the king of Denmark.

The American Olympic committee made apologies and sent back the presents. That episode cured the king of Denmark from bestowing honors ever afterward. Never afterward did he pass out a Danish Legion of Honor ribbon, or what have they?

SHORN OF HIS TROPHIES.

It seems that the amateur athletic authorities were a little more particular about breaches of the amateur code or, at any rate, a little more alert than they are now. Jim's offense was to play a little summer or semi-pro baseball during the vacation periods to help him out at Carlisle. He did not get much for this and he probably would have played for nothing—but it was enough and he was shorn of his trophies. Still the performances in the decathlon stand.

That great showman, John McGraw, saw great gate receipts possibilities in the Indian athlete, if he could measure up to big league baseball. Thorpe was a star outfielder at Carlisle, but a star outfielder in a college may turn out to be a very mediocre big leaguer, or not a big leaguer at all.

McGraw signed Thorpe at a generous figure. It seemed that with all of the physical and the mental qualities to make a great baseball player that Thorpe could not help but succeed here, especially as McGraw was determined to make him a big leaguer and gave him his concentrated attention.

After several years of trial—more than McGraw ever gave a recruit—the experiment failed. Thorpe could do everything but hit in the big league manner. There was no explanation for the failure excepting the cryptic "He was a sucker for a curved ball." The fact they knew; the causes they could not fathom and, after all, the causes did not matter.

WAS BEST AT FOOTBALL.

Of course, it was in football that Thorpe was at his best. He loved that game and he played professional football until he was in an athletic sense a doddering old Indian, only he did not dodder much, even in his last days on the gridiron, with the ball under his arm and a broken field in front. Old-timers will tell you that he was a much better broken field runner than Grange and that he could play all departments of the game better. But Jim got little or nothing for his professional football. He had no C. C. Pyle and, in his heart, he played the game for the fun of it.

Ed Thorpe, the veteran referee, tells one story of the happy-go-lucky Indian in a football game. Thorpe's team had been pressed to its own goal line, where it held and recovered the ball on downs.

The quarterback barked the signals and Thorpe, the Indian, dropped back in punting position behind his own goal line. He listened to the signal motionless. Then he said out of the side of his mouth to the referee: "Those birds think that I am going to kick, but I ain't!"
The defense was scattered to receive the expected punt. Thorpe took the ball, made a motion as though to punt, then bent low and started to run. Womping and twisting he got through the charging line of opponents, straightened out and, eluding the secondary defense, ran the length of the field for a touchdown.

The last that I heard of Thorpe was in a brief dispatch saying that he had signed to play baseball with the team of Shelby, Mont., which town is close to the Blackfoot Indian reservation. So it seems that the greatest athletic hero of his country has gone back to the wigwags of his people.

Ineligible.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—Dick Rockaway, Ohio State track star and holder of the world record for the 220-yard low hurdles, is ineligible for the indoor track season, the Ohio State University athletic board announced today. "The board expressed the hope he would qualify in time for the outdoor season in May."

Cleveland's Outfield

Cleveland has seven outfielders lined up for the 1930 baseball campaign in Falk, Averill, Morgan, Porter, Seals, Gill and Jamison.

Stars Return

Haverford's prospects were boosted by the return of two stars who had dropped out of school previously. They are Logan and Supple.

Clemson College will dedicate its new field house tonight with a basketball game between Clemson and Furman. The field house provides a club house for visiting teams in addition to the gymnasium and other athletic equipment. Below is Josh Cody, coach of the football and basketball teams at Clemson. Under Cody's direction Clemson teams have come to occupy a prominent place in conference competition.

Clemson-Furman Court Game Tonight Will Dedicate Huge New Field House.

CLEMSON COLLEGE, Jan. 6.—Clemson's new field house will be dedicated Tuesday night when the Clemson and Furman basketball teams meet here for the first home game of the season. Athletic Director Gee plans to make the occasion a gala one, and has invited the public to be guests of the athletic department for the game. There will be no admission charge, the entire 4,000 seats being thrown open to the public.

This new field house, 219 by 120 feet, has floor space for three standard basketball courts. Along the sides of the playing floor extend strips of earth floor on which temporary seats are erected. When the seats are not in use the dirt floor will be available for indoor practice of football, baseball or track. Dressing room facilities are provided at one end of the building.

The field house is designed to be the first unit in the physical education building. A campaign among alumni is in process to raise the necessary funds for erecting the central portion of the structure. Alumni have subscribed over $150,000 for this purpose and are now making payments on these pledges.

Ceremonies will begin Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock. There will be a brief dedication ceremony, and the sports followers of this section will witness a great basketball contest when Cody's quint tries its steel against the formidable aggregation of Dizzy McLeod.

April 3—Walter Spence, of Philadelphia clipped one second from the world's record for the 220-yard breast stroke swim in the National Amateur Athletic Union meet in New York.

April 4—Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, retained his crown by defeating Gorilla Jones in a 10-round bout in Los Angeles. It was his fifteenth battle in defense of his crown.

April 6—Athens (Texas) famous school team won the national interscholastic basketball championship in tourney at Chicago.

April 12—Arthur Compston, British giant, won British professional title by defeating Charles Whitcombe 1 up on Rothampton links.

April 16—Major league baseball season opened. Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh Pirates in opening skirmish. Athletics were held idle by rain.

April 16—Earle Sande, famous jockey, celebrated "comeback" to the saddle by riding Hermitage, derby candidate, to victory in race at Havre de Grace.

April 19—Johnny Miles, Hamilton, Ont., broke all records for the Boston marathon by running the distance in 2 hours 33 minutes 8 4-5 seconds—four minutes faster than the record, set by the veteran Clarence De Mar.

April 20—George Simpson, Ohio State University, broke the world's record (recognition to be sought) for the 100-yard dash by running it in 9 5-16 seconds in dual meet with Pittsburgh University at Columbus, Ohio. His mark was a tenth of a second better than that set by Dan Kelly in 1906. Simpson, the same day, tied the record for the 220-yard dash.

April 25—The United States Ryder cup team, headed by Walter Hagen, suffered worst defeat of years in international matches with British team. After winning two of the four some matches, losing one and tying one, the American team was virtually annihilated in the single matches, losing five out of the seven.

George Duncan, captain of the British team, trounced Hagen 10 and 8 in their match. Leo Diegel, Canadian star, and Horton Smith, "baby member" of the team, were the only Americans to win in the singles.

—George Simpson, Ohio State University star, added to his spectacular performances by tying the old world's record for the 100-yard dash while winning four events in the Penn relays games at Philadelphia.

Yanks Sign Two Youngsters for '30

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The New York Yankees announced today the signing of Fred Asbeck, of Lakewood, Ohio, a pitcher with the University of Michigan, who stands nearly 6 feet 6 inches.

The Giants matched the Yankees and increased their roster by one but the National league recruit is a catcher, Francis La Vigne, 19-year-old St. Louis boy, who played last summer with a California semi-pro outfit. Both youngsters will be taken to the spring training camps.

SHARKEY-SCOTT BOUT IN MIAMI SEEMS LIKELY

Gob Wants Real Foe Before He'll Fight; Englishman Is Ready.

By Edward J. Neill.

Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The figure that won't be downed, Jack Sharkey, of England, bobbed into the picture today as the likeliest of all candidates to fight Jack Scott in Miami, Fla., February 27.

The official picture, after hours of discussion and argument, represented Frank P. J. the general manager of Madison Square Garden, and Jimmy Johnston, dapper, pint-sized manager of the London fire laddie, at an impasse, with Johnston uninterested in the proceedings and Bruen only lukewarm to the idea anyway.

SITUATION.

The actual situation, however, is entirely different. Bruen today offered the match to Scott for a flat 20 per cent of the gate receipts, whereupon Jimmy replied with a demand for a guarantee of $75,000 and the privilege of 25 per cent of the proceeds. Scott's manager finally agreed to take a flat offer of 25 per cent.

Such summary dismissal of a controversy so full of publicity possibilities is hardly in keeping with the very best principles of ballroom, however. Johnston maintained the attitude that he would rather not bother with Sharkey in Miami, preferring to wait until next summer when the memory of the Englishman's hollow foul victory over Otto Von Porat has been dimmed by time. The Garden proceeds for the time being that it wants no part of Scott.

The conviction is growing, however.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 38

After his inhospitable reception by the great ape, Korak roamed the jungle unhappily for days, unsatisfied vengeance smoldering in his breast. A week he remained in the vicinity of the ape's amphitheater hoping to meet the king ape. But finally the constant search for food led him several miles away. With Akut he was moving slowly down wind. Suddenly they halted. Not a muscle quivered as they stood immovable, listening.

Korak advanced cautiously a few yards and leaped nimbly into a tree. Akut followed close. Neither had made a noise that human ears could hear a dozen yards off. Stopping often to listen they crept forward through the trees. Both seemed greatly puzzled. Finally Korak caught a glimpse of a palisade and beyond it some goatkin tents and thatched huts. His lip curled in a savage snarl. Blacks! He signalled to Akut to wait his return.

JOHN F. ARCHBOLD, 52,
DIES AT THOMASVILLE*Prominent Philanthropist
Succumbs to Brief Illness of Pneumonia.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP) John F. Archbold, 52, businessman and philanthropist of New York and Thomasville, died here today of pneumonia and all of Thomasville, where he had lived for 20 years, was in mourning.

The son of the late John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company, Mr. Archbold had many business connections over the country and was identified also with many local interests and philanthropies. He had been ill only two days.

Every store in Thomasville, the winter home of many wealthy Americans, was closed this afternoon, schools of the city were dismissed, and individuals and organizations joined in expressions of sorrow at his death.

From a wide area around Thomasville, hundreds of persons came this afternoon to attend funeral services at Chiquipian Plantation, his home, prior to burial Thursday afternoon in the Sleepy Hollow cemetery at Tarrytown, N. Y. The Rev. Bob White, of the Episcopal church, conducted the funeral ceremony here.

Surviving Mr. Archbold are his wife, the former May Barron, of New York; Frances Archbold, a student in a school in Pittsfield, Mass.; two sons, Adrian, in school near Tucson, Ariz., and Richard, now with an expedition of the Museum of Natural History of New York in Madagascar. A sister, Mrs. Michael Van Buren, of New York, and her husband also will be aboard the special car leaving here tomorrow morning to take the body to New York. Adrian Archbold will join the funeral party in New York city.

Another survivor is a sister, Anne Archbold, of Geneva, Switzerland. A delegation of Thomasville citizens will attend the funeral services in Tarrytown, where Mr. Archbold's body will be interred beside those of his father, mother and other members of the family.

News of the death of Mr. Archbold shocked this little city, where he had taken an active part in business and civic affairs. He built the John D. Archbold hospital in Thomasville six years ago. Tributes of love and respect, and of sorrow, came from many sources here for one of the city's most beloved citizens and benefactors.

WILL BE BURIED IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—John Foster Archbold, who died yesterday at his home in Tarrytown, N. Y., following a brief illness of pneumonia, was the son of the late John D. Archbold, former president of the Standard Oil Company of New York.

Mr. Archbold, a graduate of Harvard university, entered his father's office here in 1905 after he had received his early training in the oil business at Manassas, Va., where he started as a laborer in a warehouse.

He took an active part in the development of the Standard Oil Company for several years and later, became president of the Pacific Gas & Oil Co. He resigned in 1909 because of his health and retired to Thomasville on his estate of 10,000 acres.

There he was active in community affairs and founded a hospital in Thomasville as a memorial to his father. He left an endowment of $1,000,000.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in the chapel of the Sleepy Hollow cemetery, Tarrytown, N. Y. Mr. Archbold is survived by his widow and three children, Richard, Adrian and Mrs. Michael Van Buren, of New York, R. L. and Anne Archbold, of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Barrett, representative from Stephens county in the state legislature, suffered a crushed skull early Sunday when an automobile in which he was riding collided with another machine and overturned. He was pinned beneath the wreckage and died several hours after being rushed to a hospital at Washington.

Mr. Barrett was en route to visit his mother near Toccoa, when the accident occurred. His engagement to Miss Valeria Shell, of Canak, Ga., had been announced recently and the wedding set for Jan. 10.

An active lawyer, widely known in the state, Mr. Barrett had served both in the house and the senate in the legislature. He was joint author of the act providing for the consolidation of the state and to encourage consolidated elementary schools by giving them the right to use the state funds.

He is survived by three children, Dr. Clark B. Barrett, of Atlanta; Leigh Barrett, of Plumtree, N. C.; and Mrs. Margaret Barrett, of Asheville, N. C.; three sisters, Mrs. John G. Harrison and Miss Lucy Barrett, of Macon, Ga., and Mrs. R. G. Willie, of Atlanta; several nephews, including Linton H. Barrett, of Mr. Vernon; Harry Barrett, Harrison, Ga.; Elmo B. Barrett, Springdale, Ark.; John H. Barrett, Vaco, N. C.; and two nieces, Hollis Springs, W. G. Barrett, Memphis, Tenn.; Otis Barrett, Washington, Ga., and three grandchildren.

AMERICAN LINER MAKES OWN BEER ON OCEAN VOYAGE

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(United News.)—There'll be no shortage of beer, hereafter, aboard the S. S. George Washington. The big ship has set up its own "baby brewery."

When the George Washington docked here today, officials of the United States lines revealed the existence of the brewery. Hans Kausler, a ruddy-faced citizen of Hamburg, is the ship's brewmaster and his task is that of running against any possible shortage of beer during an ocean crossing.

Brewmaster Kausler, with the aid of a couple of kegs, can turn out a fair brand of beer in a few hours. His services were in great demand during the voyage just ended. The ship had not aboard the usual number of barrels of beer in a few hours. The supply ran out in mid-ocean and a great cry arose. Kausler went right to work with his kegs, however, and in a short time the suds were dripping again.
